Pay Held Up On Deadlock; Long Absent

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

Christopher (Kit) Menkin remains as San Bruno City Manager today without pay, following a Monday night council session of innuendo, insult and sarcasm.

And whether he retains that position at all perhaps will be determined by a lawsuit filed Monday afternnon in Superior Court in Redwood City.

Ironically, it was the absence of the person whose motion put him in that chair (now a hot seat) that left Menkin without a paycheck.

With Councilman Ted Long absent, Councilmen George Corey and Maurice Hamilton prodded, fought and cajoled in their attempts to reverse the 3-2 appointment of Menkin. They succeeded in holding up the pay on a 2-2 deadlock.

Councilman Dick Griffith made mostly vain efforts at verbally sparring with the two councilmen attorneys. Mayor Neil Christal, meanwhile, said little, but kept control of the meeting.

Menkin, who sat quietly through most of the session.

He said on advice of his attorney, he could say nothing.

And City attorney Joe Galligan at one point said "I think it would be silly forhim to answer questions."

Menkin said he has retained Ronald Carter of San Bruno as his attorney. Carter shares offices with Mayor Christal, who assured that Menkin is Carter's client completely.

The council chambers began filling up immediately at 7 p.m., forcing the councilmen to move their caucus session from the ante room to the council chambers.

But for Menkin the full realization of what was before him struck at city hall at approximately 3 p.m. At that time San Francisco attorney Herman Fitzgerald, representing Planning Commissioner Victor S. Ogrey, handed Menkin a copy of a writ of Mandate.

The writ in essence seeks to have the appointment of Menkin annulled and to have respondents Long, Christal, Griffith, Menkin, and the city, plus six John Does, repay whatever sal-

D.C. MERCHANTS UNENTHUSED

City, Business Community Remain At Odds Over Tax

By FRANK LaPIERRE
Post-Times Writer

Representatives of the Daly City business community Thursday met for more than two hours with city officials in an effort to iron out differences in the city's business license tax proposal.

And while the revised proposal lopped the tax in half it was received with less than enthusiasm by those merchants present.

What concerns the business community, it was brought out, was the continued inclusion of the "gross receipts" section of the proposal.

Frank Spadarella, chairman of a special Chamber of Commerce committee charged with studying the new tax, called the gross receipts tax a "deterrent to businessmen" and predicted, if enacted, it would sap them of their competitive spirit.

The informal gathering was kicked off by city manager Dave Rowe who outlined the latest proposal designed to bring in some $222,200.

Rowe first pointed up the fact that the city's 1970-71 budget called for a 13 per cent increase necessitating the need to raise some $521,190.

By increasing the water rates throughout the city $298,990 had been subtracted from this deficit, however another $222,200 was required to operate Daly City.

It was also understood that if the business license tax were put into effect and did raise the estimated $135,000, the city's homeowners would still be forced to pay another 8 cents on the current $1.81 tax rate.

In his opening remarks Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett noted the increased "fat free" budget and said "we have to go to other areas to produce tax monies."

The mayor said an increasing number of persons in the "older" section of the city were being forced out of their hom because of rising tax costs.

Lycett explained the tax proposal gave merchants in the city an opportunity to choose between "gross receipts" or "number of employees" in reporting their taxes.

He said some businesses would benefit under the gross receipts category.

As an example of how the three-man business tax committee, headed by himself and consisting of councilman McRobert Stewart and city manager Rowe, had cut back on the tax, Lycett noted that under the original tax draft a supermarket doing some $12 million annual gross business was required to pay $18,000. Under the revision it would pay $4,872 (gross receipts) or $1,279.25 (number of employees).

Bruno Cable TV System Up For Sale?

One of many items overshadowed at Monday night's San Bruno city council meeting because of the effort to oust Christopher (Kit) Menkin, was an implication that the city's cable television system may be up for sale.

This indication, along with numerous other questions as to the city's cable system, was brought up by Councilman George Corey, as he attempted to question Menkin on specifics.

Corey jumped in with the questioning after Menkin had proposed establishment of a Cable Television Communication Committee, which Menkin said he had been working on while he was still manager of the city's Chamber of Commerce.

"Did you know that you would be city manager at that time?" asked Corey. His question was challenged by Mayor Neil Christal as being out of order.

Corey, however, wouldn't be silenced. "I'm going to ask these questions," he said. "Either I talk alone, or we talk together."

Christal said no more, and Corey proceeded to ask a series of questions of Menkin, all of which were answered with a "no-comment." Menkin said he was under attorney's orders not to respond.

Corey asked if it were true that residents Les Kelting and Dick Fernandez already were set to be members of the committee. He asked if the findings

S.S.F. 'Standoff'

Police, Firemen's Parity Struggle Poses Problem

An interesting standoff is shaping up in South San Francisco as a result of employe salary and fringe benefit negotiations now taking place.

In addition to the across-the-board 7½ per cent cost-of-living increase offer, the city's firemen are asking for a 56-hour work week, a reduction of four hours.

Should this be granted, the policemen will be seeking parity either in hours or additional pay.

"We get rumbles the firemen want a 56-hour work week," said Police Lt. Dave Casey, a member of the policemen's negotiating committee. "The mayor and several councilmen have always said that as long as they were here there will and shall be parity. The nitty-gritty of it is that parity in one form or the other will be expected by the police," he said.

Lt. Casey, confirming the city offer of 7½ per cent, said at this point in time policemen are "just standing by to see what happens."

Fire Capt. Derk Zylker assured that the firemen indeed were seeking the 56-hour week. This of course would necessitate the hiring of more men. At the time of this writing the city had not responded to the request, however.

Parity has long been a tug of war between the city's two safety departments. Only last year, the firemen held out for a 7½ per cent incentive pay program to be even with the policemen.

The situation this year gets a little tight—moneywise.

Reason is Mayor Patrick Ahern worked himself into somewhat of a bind. That cost cutting campaign he carried on during the budget sessions, ostensibly to reduce the city's proposed $6 million budget, instead resulted in adding close to $50,000 to it.

True. All councilmen are responsible for the city's budget. But during the several budget sessions, Mayor Ahern was in command. Councilman Warren Steinkamp was on vacation. Councilman Frank Mammini made numerous attempts to counter Ahern, who received majority support from Councilmen William Borba and Frank Bertucelli.

When City Manager Tom McKenzie submitted his balanced budget to the councilmen it showed a reserve of some $300,000. This reserve was to be used to cover the annual cost-of-living increases.

With the cost cutting initiated by Mayor Ahern this $300,000 has dwindled to the neighborhood of $250,000. And figuring a 7½ per cent across-the-board cost-of-living increase, it would not take long to erase the $250,000.

Councilmen were faced with a tough decision. Would it mean the firemen would not get their

19-Cent Tax Rate Increase Wins Approval in Pacifica

By WILL E. THOMAS
POST CITY EDITOR

Pacifica's taxpayers will pay 19-cents more for each $100 of assessed valuation for municipal operation and its services than last year, but eight cents less than projected Friday.

The city's administrators after last Thursday's session, whittled several thousands of dollars from the budget formally presented City Council, which Monday adopted a $1,430,250 budget and a $2.29 tax rate.

Last year's rate was $2.10-a-hundred.

Until Monday night, the city's taxpayers faced a 27-cent increase, but City Manager Jim Swayne submitted last-minute recommendations for some reductions.

To do so, meant the sacrifice of a few items the council already had approved tentatively. The city decided to do without, for the time being, an extra park maintenance man, and an extra patrolman in the police department.

They also decided to lease instead of purchase four radios as a savings.

Swayne had come up with four money-saving recommendations, plus another five items not suggested, but areas of possible paring.

The Council decided to act on two of the latter items. It decreed that the recreation portion of the Parks, Beach and Recreation Department budget be limited to a six per cent increase over last year. It also scratched the proposed new po-

Citizen's Tax Advisory Unit Urged In D.C.

Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett Monday said he favored a citizens advisory committee to annually "go into the (city's) whole tax picture."

The proposal for such a committee was made last week at an informal breakfast meeting between city officials and a cross section of the local business community in an effort to iron out some rough spots in the revised business license tax draft.

Lycett, in briefing his fellow councilmen on the current status of the new tax ordinance during a study session at City Hall, again voiced his displeasure over a letter distributed and signed by Chamber of Commerce director James Sargen which contained "unnecessary innuendoes."

"The letter signed by Mr. Sargen was quite strong and contained innuendoes regarding

Mt. San Bruno Accident Fatal To Mateo Driver

A 36-year-old San Mateo golf club manufacturer was killed instantly on Sunday afternoon when he lost control of his dune buggy while climbing the steep terrain of San Bruno Mountain north of Randolph Avenue in South San Francisco. The vehicle rolled over and over for 450 feet down a steep canyon, landing on its top.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, South San Francisco, was Jerry Todd Johnson, 819 North Humboldt Street, San Mateo, who was formerly a partner in the Fernquest and Johnson Golf Company, Inc., on Collins Avenue in Colma.

State Highway Patrolmen Kenneth R. Kettell and John N. Pogledisch said Johnson was driving his dune buggy up the steep terrain about a mile north of Randolph Avenue.

A witness, Ronald A. Haydel, 22, 116 Claremont Avenue, South San Francisco, told the patrolmen he had met Johnson earlier while riding his motorcycle in the area. He said he saw Johnson turn his buggy around near the top of the mountain in the vicinity of several radio towers. Haydel said he looked away for a moment, and then looked back and noticed the vehicle had disappeared in a cloud of dust.

Another witness, Dennis M. McCoy of 858 Marie Avenue, South San Francisco, saw the buggy rolling sideways down the hill.

The patrolmen said the canyon has a grade of 75 degrees.

Phone Company Plans To Build

The Pacific Telephone Company has applied to Broadmoor for a variance to permit construction of an 18,000 square foot administration building adjacent to the Civic Center on Sullivan Avenue.

The two story structure will house records, customer service center and various employee functions.

Nearest service center at present is on Russia Avenue in San Francisco.

Three Hurt In Pacifica Fire; Home Is Destroyed

Three persons were injured in a fire that swept through a wood frame home in Pacifica early yesterday.

Listed in satisfactory condition in Mary's Help Hospital was William Schoenfeld, 24, with second and third-degree burns of the hands and back.

Less seriously burned in the blaze that completely destroyed the home at 4974 Coast Highway, was June Barr, 22, who was treated for her injuries and released.

Fireman Floyd Hack was felled by smoke inhalation while battling the 1:20 a.m. fire. He was treated on the spot and returned to duty shortly after.

Both Schoenfeld and Miss Barr occupied the home with four other people. The home is in the name of William Daeney Jr., 25.

The victims and other occupants of the home managed to escape before fire units arrived.

Firefighters were hampered in extinguishing the fire by a shortage of water in the area. The nearest fireplug is some 1,100 feet from the home.

Cause of the fire is still under investigation. However, a spokesman said arson has been all but ruled out.

D.C. Plans Meet Delay: 'No Quorum'

In the face of what could be a major confrontation between Southern Hills homeowners and the Daly City Planning Commission a meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday was cancelled due to "lack of a quorum."

The battle lines are shaping up over a request to operate a home for the aged in a private residence at 69 Bellevue Avenue filed by Perla Canaya.

What the applicant desires is a variance permit to board four senior citizens in her home.

One of the most outspoken critics of the matter which was discussed at the Planning Commission meeting in July is Tony DeMarlo who lives on Arden Court.

DeMarlo Monday asked the Daly City Council why the commission would even consider such an application "in a strictly residential area."

Before any of the four councilmen present at the meeting could answer, City Attorney Albert Polonsky cautioned them against making any comment or "taking any stand on this matter" before the commission had acted on it.

Irate citizens of the Southern Hills area were prepared to deary has been paid to daet and then have the Council proceed with the screening for a new city manager.

City Attorney Galligan immediately bowed out of the fray due to an obvious conflict of interest. He suggested an outside attorney be retained to represent the city and the individuals named in the petition initiated by Ogrey, as a resident, not as a planning commissioner. "They are entitled to a defense because they acted as city officials," said Galligan. "And it is a city expense."

Mayor Christal and Councilman Griffith became a committee of two to seek the outside attorney to represent them, Long and the city.

Long, incidentally, had left a letter stating he would not be present. "Because of my activities with the American Bar Association," he said, "It is essential I attend this one annual meeting."

The meeting is being held in St. Louis, and Corey made a point of announcing that he had called the San Francisco Bar Association and was told that Long "is neither an alternate nor a delegate to that convention."

When Griffith attempted to have Long kept out of the discussion, Corey said, "Long could be here if he wanted to. I'm not about to ignore him when he doesn't have the courage to sit in that chair."

One resident, Orville Wykoff, echoed these sentiments, saying, "Long still owes it to the city to be here. He should have told those lawyers he had something of overriding importance."

Wykoff then turned to Christal and said, "I think you are a man of integrity that has made a mistake."

To Griffith, Wykoff commented that the junior councilman has made some good negative points in the past, but not while on the council.

"You ran your campaign based on the fact you were going to bring integrity to the council," reminded Wykoff.

"It is tragic that Menkin has to sit here and go through this," he said. "It is not something that will go away. And it is time you grew up and said We made a mistake'."

Ralph Corrall, a frequent, and often vocal, member of the audience, said he had spent more than 100 hours researching law books and in discussions "only to find that what has been done is legal."

He, too, turned to Griffith. Admitting he openly supported the councilman, Corrall said, "Let's keep an eye on the original goals of letting the people be heard, of fair representation, of controlling large dirt hauls and aggressive land deals."

Corrall also made a plea for an ordinance to set up some specific standards for the position of city manager. "I was shocked when I found there are no specified qualifications for the city manager position," he said.

He also asked Menkin to step down from the office.

This was one of the rare times Menkin spoke. "If the people of San Bruno will give me a chance, I'll prove to them I'll be a good city manager and I'll do a good job."

Some support for Menkin came from resident Ken Roberts. "The fact is, he was selected by a 3-2 vote," said Roberts. "He is being castigated with scurrilous attacks, particularly by Mr. Corey," a reference among others to the fact Corey charged Menkin with submitting a fraudulent application. "Before we condemn him, let's give him a chance to do the job."

The next speaker, Peg Collier, said she didn't care if the process were legal or not, "They are morally wrong. I have a 12-year-old who wants to be a police chief. He'll work for $1 an hour," she said.

Tony Governale, former park commissioner and unsuccessful council candidate in the past election, said he hoped the 3-2 decision would be reversed, but noted that the actions that put Menkin in the spot he's in now did more to ruin his reputation than what has happened since.

Carolyn Livingood began by half-seriously indicating she, too, was qualified to be city manager. Then she said, "In a sad way, a lot of people are getting hurt tonight. And a marriage of the council is breaking up. Once you start name-calling, there's no repairing."

Failing on his motion to rescind the 3-2 action, because as Christal pointed out, it takes a majority vote, Corey asked the council to invoke subpoena powers to determine whether Menkin's application was falsified. This too, died on a 2-2 deadlock.

Corey charged Menkin with lack of proper qualifications in that he has no previous administrative or municipal experience. And with disqualification for, as Corey put it, "deliberately falfisying an application, with fraud and deceit involved."

Hamilton was more restrained, but held with his position of indicating the necessity of rescinding the 3-2 motion.

"To hire a man on the basis other than qualifications is a fraud," after advertising for the position nationally.

Hamilton went on to say that never in 10 years service to the city has he been uncomfortable with fellow councilmen.

"Now I find myself very uncomfortable in the presence of Long, Griffith and Christal. They obviously don't care about my judgment. I distrust them very much and am very suspicious of them."

Ogrey said he pursued the petition for annulment of the appointment on his own, and with his own funds. He said he had always admired Christal.

"But I am concerned about the direction the city is going. Never have I seen such a shocking disregard for the proper thing to do in this city. For Christal to do something like this was absolutely shocking. The two new councilmen are not experienced to judge between right and wrong," said Ogrey.

City Officials Meet With Merchants

tion to the tax from several sources at the meeting, mayor Lycett said he detected a reluctance on the part of the city's business community to share in the tax burden.

Leo Musso of QFI stores, immediately disputed the mayor's statement and said he was willing to pay more than proposed if the city would simplify bookkeeping proceedures centering around the tax.

Musso felt there was a "moral responsibility" on the part of the business community to participate in the tax load.

Another merchant, Arthur Colman went a step further and offered to pick up the entire deficit minus the water rate hike.

Speaking on behalf of the Westlake Merchants Association, Colman reminded the mayor that at earlier hearings the city had said there would be "no more property taxes."

"Any added revenues should come from the business community alone — not from homeowners," Colman said. "Only that way can you stay with the declaration you made previously."

He said no tax is perfect.

"I've never met anyone that says he is happy over a tax. I don't care what kind of tax it is" Colman commented.

But the other merchants in the room did not agree with Colman's statement on footing the entire tax load.

Spadarella felt excess revenues would create a city "slush fund" and he noted that cities finding themselves with extra spending the surpluses.

He insisted that the gross receipts section of the law be tabled for study and again asked for establishment of a blue ribbon panel made up of a cross section of city residents, including association members, senior itizens, homeowners and special groups.

Alessandro Baccari, head of a San Francisco based firm specializing in fact-finding reports, said he felt such committees are invaluable to city governments in helping them dig out facts surrounding various matters.

Baccari, who was brought into the tax battle when it was first announced publicly some months ago, warned against Daly City "copying" other municipalities in this field and informed Mayor Lycett "You can lead the way."

myself and other city officials," Lycett said.

The mayor partially dismissed the letter by noting some of those responsible for it "are a little ambitious." He did not elaborate.

Councilman McRobert Stewart said the letter had also "hit me wrong."

But he predicted a workable solution to the problem would soon be found.

"We've tried to work out the right approach for the total community," councilman Stewart said.

One part of the controversial letter dealt with the fact that city manager David Rowe had based revenues and expenditures on estimates.

"Is the financial experience of the city so weak that a $6 million program is based on unreliable guesses?"

"This entire philosophy is dangerous and highlights why many citizens question the quality and reliability of their government. If not in the past, then maybe now property owners better wonder how their taxes are determined and the money spent."

of the committee already were prepared. Then he asked if the cable system is to be sold to a private business, and whether, in fact, the committee already has not talked about the sale to a private firm.

After this brief exchange, Christal told Corey he was taking advantage of his position as a councilman and the fact he was an attorney in using Senator (Joseph) McCarthy tactics. "It is a good trick," said Christal, "to bring up things a person cannot respond to because of his instruction by counsel.

"I'm not defending Menkin on this," said Christal. "However, I feel these questions are inappropriate at this time."

The proposal to establish the committee, incidentally, died for lack of a second. The motion to incorporate it was made by Councilman Dick Griffith.

SSF Struggle Over Parity Is 'Problem'

reduced work week? Would it mean an increase in taxes to give both? Would it mean the cost-of-living increases would be reduced to give the firemen their hours? Or would it mean a review of the already out-of-balance budget to cull more from other departments to meet firemen's demands?

A piece of welcome news late last week (on the surface) indicated there would be no problem. The city's assessed taxable valuation increased nearly three per cent over what the original budget was based on. This would mean added income of approximately the $50,000 over-age originally included as a result of the earlier cutting process.

The budget was based on an increase of a little over three per cent of the last assessed taxable valuation of $183,589,591. However, the city's assessed taxable valuation jumped to $194,937,765, or an increase of roughly six per cent.

Using these figures, and assuming the city granted across-the-board cost-of-living increases of 7½ per cent, plus even a 56-hour week to the firemen, there could be a little dough left in the contingency reserve for emergencies.

However, the policemen already have indicated they will not stand still for an hour reduction in the fire department without equal compensation for the policemen.

So to appease this group, the councilmen would have to tackle that amount that would remain in reserve.

Pups Stolen From Window

The burglar that smashed his way into the Underwater World Pet Shop in Daly City early Sunday never bothered to ask "How much is that doggy in the window?"

After breaking through the front plate glass window at the Mission street store he reached through and grabbed two male Pomeranian pups valued at $75 each.

Police have no suspects in the incident.

Datzman Named Lieutenant In South S.F. Department

It took 10 years to the day for James Datzman to advance from a police dispatcher to lieutenant in the South San Francisco Police Department.

Datzman's appointment to fill the lieutenant vacancy in the department was announced recently along with the appointment of David Haskins as a patrolman by Chief Salvatore Rasano.

Datzman, 31, married and father of two year old son, started with the department July 1, 1960, as a police dispatcher. He was appointed a police officer Sept. 1, 1961 and promoted to sergeant in the Patrol Division May 1, 1966.

The first day of this year he was assigned to the Services Division to perform a special communications study. He received his appointment as a lieutenant July 1. Ten years after joining the SSF Police Department, Lt. Datzman commands the investigation.

Lt. Datzman recently received his Bachlor of Arts degree in business administration from Golden Gate College in San Francisco. He also attends peace officers Standards and Training Supervisory Academy and received his peace officers standards and training advanced certificate.

Appointed a police officer July 1, Dave Haskin was born in San Francisco. A resident of Brentwood area since 1949, he attended Avalon, Parkway and South San Francisco High schools. He is a member of SSF High class of '65.

Officer Haskin attended College of San Mateo and received an Associate of Arts degree in Police Science in June, 1967. While studying at CSM, he became associated with the police department through an internship program.

Haskin worked as a clerk dispatcher for a short while before being drafted into the army in 1968.

While in the service, he was a military policeman at the Presidio and served with the 82nd Airborne in Vietnam. After his discharge in December, he joined the police reserves. He returned to work part-time as a clerk-dispatcher while attending college.

Close Down Airport, Says Councilman

San Bruno Councilman Dick Griffith last week requested that San Francisco International Airport be closed down for one week in the battle against jet noise.

Speaking to the airport's Sound Abatement Committee, Griffith said, "You have turned deaf ears to scientists' warnings about the slow death and physical damage to our blood vessels and glands caused by these repeted loud noises.

"San Bruno has been your good neighbor, even in the past four years assisting in promoting the airport with an Airport Appreciation Week. You can believe that many thousands of San Bruno residents who were intermittently struck speechless by your deafening sounds, looked askance at these celebrations and wondered why the Chamber of Commerce was toasting you in the sky.

"What I am today suggesting most solemnly to you is that this year the tables be turned. Let us see you at the airport have a 'San Bruno Appreciation Week, in the time slot now scheduled for the reverse.

"Shut down the airport for one week. Set aside a week of silence to find means of diverting your thunder and dir pollution from San Bruno.

"If you don't do this, it won't be very long until we shall find a reasonable judge who will insist that you do so, for the health and safety of our citizens."

He was answered by sound abatement director Captain William Townsend, who said:

"We have tried to do something over the years. You don't give us credit because we don't stand up and yell loud enough. It is not reasonable to close down an airport and put 36,000 people out of work."

He said many technical advances had been made in the past ten years of the committee's existence.

Two Nabbed For Drugs

Two separate arrests were made this weekend in San Bruno involving marijuana and narcotics.

Patrick S. Boyd, 20, of Modesto, and William B. McAfee, 26, of 8 Lorton Avenue, Burlingame, were scheduled for arraingment yesterday.

Police said Boyd was arrested Friday afternoon on an initial charge of being under the influence of alcohol. Police said they later found a clear plastic bag containing 13 white pills on his person.

According to police, Parking Control Officer Charles Aubuchon made the initial custody effort and was aided by Officer Terry Johnson.

McAfee, meanwhile, was arrested shortly after midnight Sunday in the Pacific Heights Shopping Center. Police said Officer Tom Manning made the arrest. After spotting a marijuana cigarette on the dashboard of the car, a further search led to the discovery of 36 lids.

BID CALL

South San Francisco councilmen have authorized a call for bids for the sale of bonds on the assessment district for improvement of 12-mile creek.

IT'S A FACT

By JACK WILSON

WRITE-IN MAKES IT

A few people have said a write-in has not won an election. Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina won his Senate seat as a write-in on November 2nd, 1954. This required carrying an entire state not just one county.

Do you know how to make your write-in vote for your candidates? In the voting booth locate the write-in slide number which is found in the official title block. For write-in Wilson it is: "Representative in Congress, 11th District," which is above McCloskey's name. Look for this same number next to the write-in slide on the left side of the ballot and push the metal slide to the right to expose the paper underneath. Write in either "Jack Wilson" or "Wilson." Note, the number itself will not be available from the election polling people until September 28th.

MORE THAN 300,000 cubic yards of earth and refuse will be used to complete the Daly City Scavenger Company's dumpsite seawall. The company said construction was ahead of the schedule set by the State Water Quality Control Board. (Post Photo)

Scavenger Co. Ahead Of Seawall Deadline

The State Water Quality Control Board gave the Daly City Scavenger Company, operators of the Mussel Rock dumpsite, until July 31 to complete 1100 feet of a planned 2000 foot-long seawall fronting the dump.

Scavenger president Al Serini announced this week the deadline was not only met, it was surpassed.

On July 31 some 1300 feet of seawall had been completed and grading and sloping operations were underway.

Serini predicted that the seawall, constructed of huge boulders, would be completed far ahead of schedule.

Meanwhile, some residents of the area adjacent to the ocean side dump complained about the stench emanating from the site.

Daly City city manager David Rowe explained the smell was coming from an "old" section of the dump that was being shifted back away from the shoreline to a new location where it cannot be eroded by wave action, thus polluting the water and beach.

The relocation project should be completed within two weeks, Serini said.

More than 300,000 cubic yards of earth and refuse must be moved to complete the project.

A steady line of trucks were busy throughout the past few months shuttling first between a Pacifica rock quarry and the dump and currently to a Belmont highway contruction site with boulders weighing two tons and more.

The boulders are dumped into a trench along the shoreline and built up to a height of some 20 feet. At the base of the seawall boulders are stacked 30 feet wide, tapering to a top width of some ten feet.

TWO-STATE POST OFFICE

TEXARKANA, Tex.

Texas and Arkansas boast the only post office in the United States that straddles a state line. It serves both Texarkana ,Tex., and Texarkana, Ark. The site was picked in 1841 when Texas was still a republic.

D.C. Leader Is Appointed

Julius F. Castelan, Daly City civic leader, has been reelected to another one-year term on the San Mateo County Economic Opportunity Commission.

Elections were conducted last week under the auspices of the Daly City Information & Referral Center, with chairman David Salazar supervising the ballot counting.

The final tabulation disclosed that Castelan beat his closest rival for the post by 42 votes. Castelan received 125 votes to Morris J. Tolson's 83.

A total of 236 votes were cast.

Castelan is the former president of the Daly City Senior Citizens club and currently vice president of that organization. He is also treasurer of the Centra Hispano.

The commissioner serves on two other county advisory boards — Commission on Aging and the Board of Directors of the Legal Aid Society.

scend on the meeting last night to protest the home, which many have publicly labeled "a senseless venture."

A similar request to operate such a home was approved last month by both the Commission and the Council in a different neighborhood without opposition.

At that time, the council granted a one year permit to operate a four bed home after listening to appeals made by two representatives from the County Social Welfare office.

Asked why a matter that had already been continued for two months had again been put off — perhaps until the next regular Commission meeting in September — assitant to the City Manager Don Fleming said only one Commissioner could attend.

sition of "recreation coordinator."

With the proposed recreation budget came a re-structuring, and Recreation Director Richard Burton expresed a desire to move in that direction despite the loss of the "coordinator."

The result is that Burton will be assisted by a superintendent and two supervisors, administratively, instead of by two supervisors and a senior recreation leader.

Pacifica's new rate also includes a five-cent tax for a bus service.

Swayne, Finance Director John Grindrod and others on the city's administrative staff worked with an assessed valuation figure of $62,714,787; contrasted with a figure of $59,536,488 last year.

The council also Monday adopted a 1970-71 pay plan. Swayne explained it amounted to a 5.6 per cent "upward adjustment" for employes — except for teratment plant operators, the assistant city manager, public works director, assistant ffre chief, police captains, maintenance carpenter, and auto serviceman, who will receive 2½ per cent more.

MARILYN IDEMA has been named as promotion manager of the Serramonte Shopping Center in Daly City. She will head all advertising and promotional activities in the 84 store complex. Mrs. Idema comes from Grand Rapids, Mich., where she held a similar position. With interests in tennis, skiing, painting and her three daughters, she is looking forward to California living, she said.

One Drain Resolution Is Approved

Only one of seven resolutions pertaining to a proposed Tanforan Avenue-Shaw Road storm drain project assessment district has been approved by South San Francisco councilmen.

The other six will have to await an informal meeting with property owners of the area.

Public Works Director Lou Goss was prepared to proceed with the assessment district by using code provisions allowing a four-fifths vote of the council to override protests, if this became necessary.

Councilmen, however, shied away from this procedure due to the fact the city is now legally involved because of such a procedure, as a result of overruling protests on the South Maple Avenue-South Canal Street relief pump and storm drain assessment district.

Goss said he expects to meet with property owners some time next week, and at the convenience of Ken Jones, the city's legal counsel on assessment matters.

The one resolution the councilmen did adopt provided for financing of the city's share of the project by authorizing a special loan to an assessment fund. This means the city is putting up the necessary $62,305. Payment of this is to be repaid by assessing the property owners according to benefits they'll receive from the storm drain improvements.

Goss said 15 property owners were to be assessed. The amounts of their assessments vary from as high as $8,000 to as low as $800. He said all property involved in the district have been flooded in the past and will surely be flooded again.

This being the case, councilmen felt an informal meeting with the property owners to explain how they would benefit would not make it appear as though the councilmen were "pushing" the project.

South San Francisco entered into an agreement with San Bruno for the construction of the facilities. It goes from an existing structure southwest of Tanforan Avenue, west of the Southern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, northeast across and under the right-of-way to and along Tanforan Avenue to San Mateo Avenue and east to Shaw Road.

Halt Prompts A Payment

A temporary job halt on construction of Westborough Boulevard in South San Francisco prompted councilmen to make a unique contractor progress payment.

On advice of City Atty. John Noonan, the councilmen adopted a resolution requiring the L. C. Smith Company to make assignment payments to two subcontractors before the city would release Smith's progress payment.

Lou Goss, director of public works said he had received a letter from L. C. Smith that the firm was withholding a payment to a subcontractor, and the subcontractor subsequently was refusing to do work until he was paid.

Councilmen indicated their concern to get the job done. The progress payment was $34,942. The two assignment payments were for a little over $2,000 and approximately $7,000.

Jefferson Elementary Trustees Approve $8,900,000 Budget

By WILL E. THOMAS
Post City Editor

A budget of $8,902,020 was approved by trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District, indicating a general fund tax rate of $2.71 for each $100 of assessed valuation.

The rate, figured by Associate Superintendent Roger Barthuli, includes a 10-cent increase specified August 4 by the Board of Trustees to help provide a sum of $303,000 for employe salaries and fringe benefits.

The tax rate indication is incomplete, however, since the district has not received the county stipulation of what its bond interest and redemption figure will be.

Teacher salary and benefit negotiations are continuing, and the actual figure is a near unknown. Trustees interrupted the meeting to conduct an executive session with attorney Paul Hupf, who is the board's representative in teacher-district negotiations.

Nothing was discussed in open session about the closed-door meeting with Hupf, but Barthuli afterward recommended the $303,000 be budgeted along with $40,000 for the salaries of four new remedial reading teachers.

Trustees voted to hire the four new teachers earlier in the evening. The additional remedial teachers were not included in the district's publication budget, and Supt. Frank Greenwood explained that the addition would reduce the undistributed reserve fund. He indicated he was reluctant to do this.

Trustees' president Ed Tomasello recalled a board committment to provide whatever was necessary to bolster the district's reading program, and he obtained from each of the other members — Trustee Bill Schumacher was absent — the same recollection.

Joe Lewkowitz appeared fretful over spending the money, nonetheless, when reserves were low. He finally voted with the majority, however, though his "no" was heard on the vote to raise the tax rate by ten cents a hundred.

The ten-cent boost in the rate would raise $125,000 for the district, Barthuli said, explaining that even so a $100,000 deficit will exist.

Greenwood recommended cafeteria program capital outlay and an increase in the charge for meals.

Greenwood wants to buy seven heating ovens and other equipment, and boost the meal cost to kindergarteners through sixth graders to 40 cents, a five-cent increase; seventh and eighth graders to 45 cents and adults to 55 cents.

The board took no action.

The increased intermediate student meal cost would include increased portions, the superintendent declared.

In another public hearing last week, the trustees re-affirmed its previous action to recommend to Dr. Max Rafferty the appointment of former trustee Tom Noonan to the district's Personnel Commission.

Chairman Tomasello explained to Mrs. Beverly Forrester — who sought to learn Noonan's qualifications, in relation to those of two other nominees—that Noonan was a 20-year resident of the community, experienced in administration through his telephone company employment, a member of the board of trustees of the elementary school district and a member of the county committee on school district reorganization.

Tomasello indicated there appeared to be "no problem" with Noonan's health, and it was noted by Superintendent Frank Greenwood that Noonan resigned his school board post not because of ill health, but because of the press of his employment.

The board chairman also pointed out that Noonan was an advocate of the merit system, a pre-requisite for membership on the Personnel Commission. Lewkowitz and Greenwood substantiated this assertion.

The California School Employees Association, Chapter 233, opposed the Noonan appointment, citing health reasons, as well as a belief that Noonan, because of his prior board experience and "very close" association with the present administration would tend to hold the views of the Board of Trustees.

Trustees moved that the other nominees, Miguel Yriberri and Joe Woods be sent letters thanking them for "coming forward."

Superintendent Greenwood explained that all three men were "highly recommended for the position."

Jefferson High's Budget Approved

Jefferson High School District's Board of Trustees last week adopted a budget of $10,572,000 with a general fund tax rate yet to be determined.

The new budget represents an increase of $1,189,000 over last year, yet essentially will provide "the same kind of program that we had in effect last year," explained Glenn South, assistant superintendent for business.

South, said the district has not received the assessed valuation figures from the county assessor. The tax annually imposed by the county for bond interest and redemption has not yet been compued and relayed to the district, South also noted.

South said that without the bond tax the general fund rate appears close to $2.77. With the bnd rate, last year's tax was $2.95.

At any rate, South does not expect there will be a "material difference" when the assessed valuation figures arrive.

The $10,572,838 Jefferson High School District budget in Daly City includes for the first time a sizeable sum for the maintenance and repair of school facilities.

Trustees approved the allocation of $100,000 for this purpose after expenditures in the past of only meager funds, Glenn South, the assistant superintendent for business, has pointed out.

An extensive summer repair and maintenance program was launched this year at all six of the district's schools, South explained.

Noting sufficient funds allowed the program "finally" to become a reality, South said the employment of student workers at each of the schools helped in completion of many of the work projects.

The new budget's income was listed by South:

Beginning balance, $999,875; federal, $224,549; state, $2,139,861; county-other, $172,382; local, $7,036,171.

Expenditures:

General fund, $9,954,648; general reserve, $1,000; revolving cash, $4,000; reserve, fixed, $200,000; classified, $10,000; undistributed, $403,190.

The district has budgeted as the largest single item $4,453,980 for teachers' salaries. The same category amounted to $4,184,691 in 1968-69 and $4,369,659.

Other expenditures budgeted:

Classified salaries, instruction, $343,418; certificated salaries, administration, $99,439; classified salaries, administration, $122,854; textbooks, $26,488; repayment of state school building fund, $622,157; buildings, capital outlay, $550;

Certificated employe benefits, $257,656; classified employe benefits, $117,999; classified salaries, transportation, $133,738; certificated salaries, transportation, $6,379; other expense, transportation, $108,339; equipment, capital outlay, $306,933.

South also emphasized that the tax rate, without the bond interest and redemption figure has been estimated at $2.7748 for each $100 assessed valuation. The rate last year, including bond interest and redemption was $2.9566; without, $2.6958.

Citizens In S.S.F. Plan New Group

A new group, The Citizens for Responsible Government, has been created by South San Francisco residents who were involved in obtaining the necessary signatures for the Camaritas - West Orange pedestrian overcrossing referendum election.

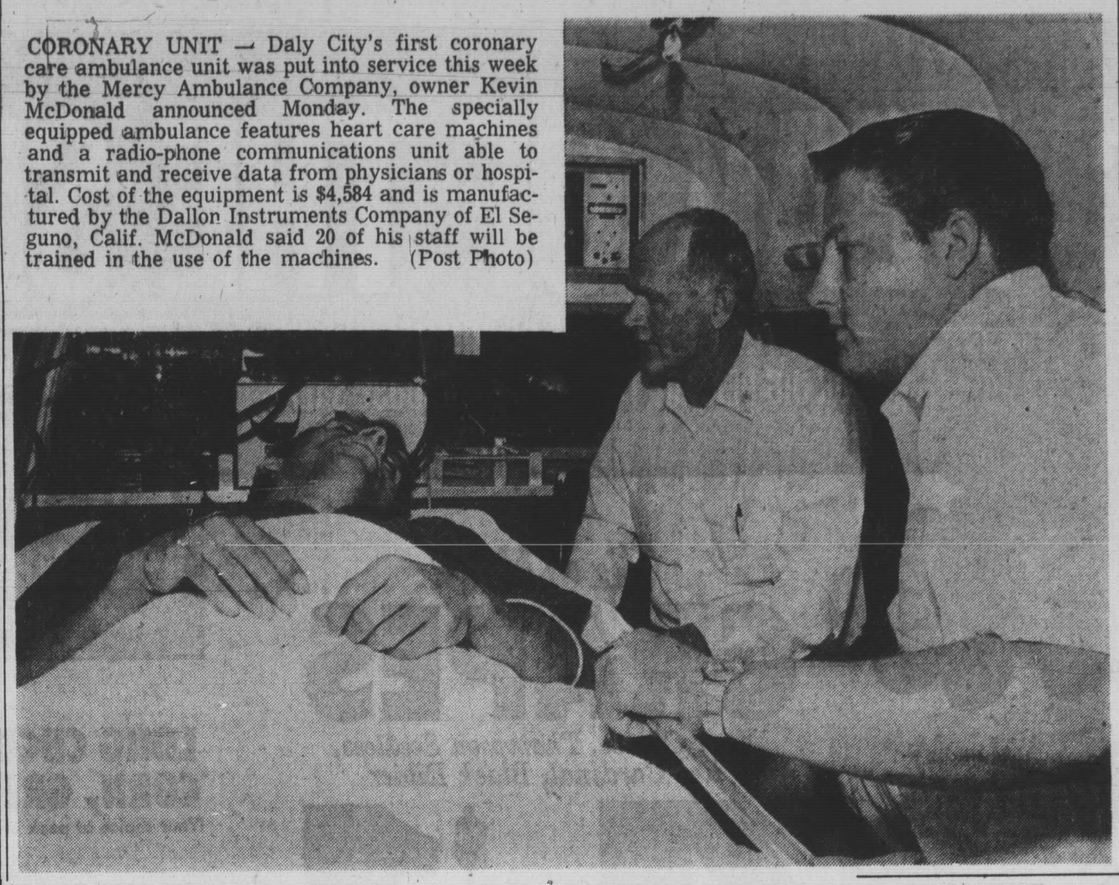
The group includes three candidates of the recent city council election race and many of the people in their campaign organizations.

Co-chairmen of the group are Jerry Higgins, Don Gamma and Bob Polzoni. Although the group has as its initial task the defeat of the overpass, it anticipates continuing to function after the September 15 election "to create pressure on the city council whenever such pressure is justified."

Said Higgins, "Our group is composed of concerned citizens from all sections of the city. It is high time that we, as taxpayers and voters, band together to demand that our city council act in a more responsible manner when it considers matters of such vital importance as pedestrian safety."

According to Higgins, the group intends to contact every voter prior to September 15, to present the group's side of the pedestrian overcrossing issue.

Special Ambulance Increases The Odds



CORONARY UNIT — Daly City's first coronary care ambulance unit was put into service this week by the Mercy Ambulance Company, owner Kevin McDonald announced Monday. The specially equipped ambulance features heart care machines and a radio-phone communications unit able to transmit and receive data from physicians or hospital. Cost of the equipment is $4,584 and is manufactured by the Dallon Instruments Company of El Seguno, Calif. McDonald said 20 of his staff will be trained in the use of the machines. (Post Photo)

VD On Increase In S.M. County

Venereal diseases are showing a tremendous increase in San Mateo county this year, according to the monthly health department report.

To date there are 1,044 cases compared to 754 for last year at the same time. Each month has shown a gain.

Health officials reported 235 cases of gonorrhea in July. Highest incidence was reported in Menlo Park, 54 cases; San Mateo-Foster City, 49; Redwood City, 33.

Infectious and non-infectious syphillis accounted for 16 new cases last month. The total number of cases for the disease to date is 43, compared to 58 in 1969.

Streptococcal infections also showed a marked increase last month with doctors reporting 222 cases. It brings the seven-month total this year to 2226 compared to 2041 for the same time last year.

DRAGLINE

South San Francisco councilmen have approved specifications and authorized a call for bids for the rental of dragline equipment for dredging sand from Colma Creek and tributaries during the 1970-71 fiscal year.

BUDGET APPROVED —The Laguna Salada Elementary School District in Pacifica approved a budget of $6,545,411 with a ten-cent-a-hundred increase in the tax rate. Here, Dist. Supt. James Brien (center) goes over budget package with Board Chairman Sid Lorvan and Trustee Anita Heyman, seated, this week after winning a special election to fill the vacancy created when Stanley Farber was elected to a city council post earlier this year. Of the new tax, 4½ cents will go toward special education and 5½ for employe fringe benefits, Brien pointed out. (Post Photo)

Vacationers Are Robbed

Two vacationing youths reported to Daly City police yesterday they had been robbed by a barechested youth and his blonde girlfriend as they hitch-hiked up Skyline Boulevard toward Pacifica.

The couple picked up John Crenshaw, 17, of Stockton, and Patrick Ferrara 15, of Chicago near the entrance to Thornton Beach Park and robbed them of the few dollars they carried near the Westmoor Avenue-Skyline intersection.

The victims said the driver of the white 1964 Plymouth was barechested and had a tattoo on his body. His female companion was a blonde in her early 20s.

Police said the incident was reported shortly before 6 p.m. Sunday.

Construction Said Down

The value of construction during the first month of the new fiscal year in Pacifica was substantially below that of the same month a year ago.

Philip W. Mayo, Pacifica's chief building official, has disclosed a July 1-31, 1970 construction valuation of $118,788, through 45 permits and $715,160 on 35 permits during the same period of 1969.

The July, 1970 valuation was derived through 9 residential additions, 23 residential alterations, one commercial alteration, two apartment alterations, one re-locatable school classroom, two fire sprinkler systems and one comfort station, in addition to signs, sheds and a swimming pool.

Fees collected amounted to $1,366.95, compared with $4,195.98 in June of 1969, Mayo said.

Valuations Increased

Seven month totals of the San Bruno Building Inspection Department show a 15-1 increase in building permit valuations for 1970 over 1969.

A total of 245 permits issued in 1970 were valued at $15,581,208. Two fewer permits in 1969, or 243, were valued at $1,073,304.

Breakdown for the month of July has one commercial structure for each of the two years. The value in 1970 was $129,100, for 1969 it was $23,000.

Residential alterations in July of 1970 totaled $30,035 for 23 permits while 40 permits in July of 1969 were valued at $32,416.

For commercial alterations, five permits in July of 1970 were valued at $92,750 and six in July of 1969 were valued at $8,180.

South San Francisco's Girl Scouts Hold Potluck Lunch

South San Fancisco Girl Scout Association hosted a potluck luncheon and yearly awards meeting at the South San Fancisco Women's Club recently.

Pins and Girl Scout recognition awards were presented to two people who have helped scouting in many ways.

Sylvia Andrews was presented one for her work with the Girl Scouts in South San Fancisco. She has been an outstanding leader for the last 10 years of Troop 679, has helped with the training of leaders, Scout-A-Whirl and was acting Association Chairman. She has guided many Brownie Scouts through their Cadette Scout years.

The other recipient of the Girl Scout Recognition award was a man who has worked with Girl Scout for at least 19 years. Irving C. Stevenson or "Grandpa" or "Muggans" as the girls call him, started in Scouting with his daughter, Mrs. Jack Bessire of South San Francisco. He helped with work parties at the Girl Scout Camp Merced, now named Ida Smith. In his daughter's Scout days he drove girls to and from many outings. Now he is doing the same thing for his granddaughters in South San Francisco. He made a portable flag pole used on Association Campouts, a bridge used in bridging girls from Brownie Scouts to Junior Scouts to Cadette Scouts, file boxes, charts and many other objects used at the SSF Girl Scout Day camp during the summer months.

The highest award an adult Girl Scout can receive was presented by Mrs. C. L. Holidman, SSF Girl Scout Association Chairman to Mrs. Jack (Millie) Bessire for her outstanding work with the Girl Scout movement. This award is called the "thanks Badge" and is approved not only by the local Girl Scout Association, but by the SF Bay Area Girl Scout Council.

Millie Bessire celebrated her 19th year in scouting this summer. She began scouting as a girl and continued through senior scouting and during college years she worked as a counselor at Camp Sugar Pine. She continued the job after graduation from college while she taught school in San Francisco.

Benefit Planned At Riordan High On September 13

Spotlights will be focused on the Marianist Brothers Education Fund on September 13.

This early autumn Sunday is the day that the board members of the Marianist Assistance Fund will host a wine-cheese tasting benefit party from 2 to 4 p.m. in the outdoor patio of Riordan High School in San Francisco.

Marin French Cheese Company will have a variety of their cheese for tasting and the wines will be from the Charles Krug and Samuele Sebansiani Wineries. Special awards and gifts will be offered guests.

A special feature will be a silent auction, under the direction of Miss Mildred Samaha.

'Back-To-School And Fall Fashions' Westlake Feature

"Back-To-School and Fall Fashions" will be the theme Saturday, when Westlake Shopping Center in Daly City opens its mall to teenagers, collegians and the younger set, presenting a fashion show at 1 p.m.

Commentator will be "Bwana Johnny", a Radio KYA personality and record show star, who will be assisted by accordianist Marv Ruesch.

Coordinating the event is Mrs. Mona Baker.

The Westlake production is unique in that the entire show will be held outside on a specially constructed stage and floral ramp.

Models will be representing such Westlake fashion stores as Penny's, Fern Warner Maternity, Pauson's Store for Men, Sue Scott Apparel, Lass and Laddie, Lorei's, The Fashion, Jay-Vee, Herrmann's Baby News, Grant's, New England Shop, Georgette's Beauty Show and Wig Boutique, Woolworth's and Singer Sewing Center.

Ruesch's accordian stylings will begin and 12:30 p.m., followed by "Bwana Johnny" and the style show at one.

The presentation is free to all Westlake visitors.

Annual Fuchsia Show On Sunday

The Pacifica Branch of the American Fuchsia Society will hold its annual show August 16, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the mall of the Fairmont shopping center, Hickey Blvd. and Gateway Dr., Pacifica.

There will be a profusion of displays of plants and blooms, free drawings every half hour for plants or merchandise, and plants for sale.

Admission is free.

Mrs. John Fern Is Named Floral Show Chairman

Mrs. John Fern, president of the Daly City Garden Club, has appointed Mrs. Claire Yohn, general chairman of the Sixteenth Annual Standard Flower Show, to be held this year at the First Western Bank and Trust Company, 30 Westlake Court., on September 12 and 13.

Mrs. Yohn said that schedules for horticulture and flower arrangement classes are now ready. Sections in the schedule include divisions for children 4 years, through junior high school with a special section for high school age children.

Cut blooms, container grown plants and flower arrangement divisions are open to Daly City residents and the public is cordially invited to bring exhibits. For further information regarding the flower show and schedule, call Mrs. Yohn.

Club members interested in flower arranging will begin a series of flower arranging workshops at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Clarence Rockey residence. Make reservations now with Mrs. Luther Sweeten.

The subject of the first workshop will be containers, mechanics and line material and

Louanne Heath's Datebook

IT IS AMAZING how self reliant even the most timid of children can become when they find themselves faced with living miles from the nearest family for several weeks!

In town, with 101 options from which to choose a day's activity, our boys often come into the living room with discouraged expressions and mope about, saying they and the dozen other children who live on the block can't find a single thing to do.

In the mountains, though they have no one to play with, or track about with but each other, they never bemoan the sorry condition of the entertainment facilities. Surely, it is not just the novelty of change, for we spend far too much time here for that. The terrain is familiar, the games almost ritualistic.

Perhaps it is the fact that the mountains and the forest contain endless and surprising secrets and always there is a challenge and the hint of danger. That might be what holds their interest so unflaggingly.

IN TOWN THEY WANT a ride if they have to go more than a block, here, on rough, dirt roads and steep deer trails they want to walk endlessly. In the city a noise in the dark house in the middle of the night can be frightening to the younger children. Here they sleep in a tent, by themselves in a part of the property where each night they hear the cracklin of twigs under deer hooves and the busy scratching and rummaging of raccoons, but noone ever blows the police whistle each carries for emergencies.

Yesterday we hiked through thick "buck brush" and over broken shale for hours. Everyone stood motionless, without so much as a startled cry, as we listened to a rattlesnake buzz angrily. No one moved for more than half a minute while we searched, with our eyes, all the possibly hiding spots from which he could be watching us.

He was no more than two feet from anyone of us and three already had stepped past him, actually holding onto the rock where he ws resting, concealed by dead leaves.

No tears, no panic, no overt signs of excitement. A totally different from the reaction danger causes in the city!

EARLIER THIS WEEK we stood very tensely while a bear cub scrambled about only a few feet from us. We breathed a big sigh of relief when the cub, and not the mother, discovered humans and a dog near. Mother bear didn't appear but since we have seen her tracks in many spots.

It is part of the mystique of the forest that none of this seems to frighten the children though they are acutely aware of the fact that bears do maul people, sometimes fatally, and that snake venom will kill or make exceedingly ill anyone unfortunate enough to tangle with a rattler.

They are constantly nagging for permission to trek up and down the river bank, near bear tracks and over "snakey" rocks, to fish. Two hours after our brush with the snake yesterday they were off on another hike, on the same hillside, and after dinner we were all off searching for fire wood in the twilight with all senses alert for the rattle of a snake or the sight, sound or smell of bear.

WE DON'T COURT DANGER in our mountian top retreat nor do we make a fetish of overcoming fear. That would be infinitely foolish. We have been attempting to instill into this young generation of urban offspring a respect for all things in the forest and an appreciation of the part each plays in maintaining the beauty of our surroundings.

To do that we have to come to terms with each crisis as it arises and be ready to appreciate each thing lovely or interesting that we encounter. We have to live with the whole of nature and it brings out the best in all of us.

Hopefully, someday we will be wise enough to teach them to live with the stress and confusion of the city as efficiently and self-confidently as they live with nature.

Serramonte Show: 'Youth Happening'

Back-to-School time is here and Serramonte Center merchants in Daly City are celebrating with a "Youth Happening". Activities will be slanted to the younger set.

Capping the activities will be a "Youth Happening" fashion show with lovely model-actress Diane Darnell as commentator. Guests attending the shows will be given special cosmetic favors, courtesy of Merle Norman Cosmetics of Serramonte.

The fashion shows will be held at the Fountain August 14, at 7 p.m., and August 15, at 2 p.m.

Miss Darnell has been commentator for the Serramonte fashion shows for the past two years. She has appeared on many local television series as well as in motion pictures. Her most recent television appearance was on Channel 14 in San Mateo presenting a special program on modeling and beauty. She has just returned from a cruise to Canda on which she was featured as a lecturer on beauty for the Pacific Orient Lines.

Visits are scheduled by Root 'N' Toot, the famous clown duo, who do fascinating free ballon sculptures for the kiddies. They will be on the mall from 1 to 5 p.m., August 13-15.

Maxwell House Coffee will be on the mall with free cash and coupons, from Noon to 9:30 p.m.

members attending are requested to bring the above items to the meeting.

THE MARQUEE

Triple 'Yuks' For 'Doll' Drivel

If I could begin to describe the goings on in "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls" which must be somewhere between Sodom and Gomorrah, east of the old Palo Alto train depot and around the bend past ancient Rome, you wouldn't believe it. But it makes the sexual activity of "Myra Breckenridge" look like recess at a high school football game and the violence of "Catch 22," "M.A.S.H." and "The Wild Bunch" a training film on elementary butchery.

This little ditty from the indelicate minds of Russ (you name a dirty picture, and he's made it) Meyer and Chicago Tribune film critic Roger Ebert (how can he have the nerve to ever write a bad review again) is about the rankest, totally orgiastic film product yet. By comparison, "Sex in Denmark" and Andy Warhol low budget smoker films appear tame.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO HAVE SEEN a lot of filthy movies to judge this one: It would be apparent to a 10 year old.

To say poor Jacqueline Susann would be facetious, since she's anything but that. But to the unenlightened, those who don't read gossip columns or trade papers, it might seem that it is a sequel to her (meek and mild by comparison, but not all that much better from a literary standpoint) "Valley of the Dolls." Not so, she's protesting in a high figure law suit.

The object of the film is to go the limits. Pull the sheets off all this hanky panky about permissiveness, pornography, homosexuality, violence, grisly graphic sadistic murders and transvestite aberrations and give the public what it wants, no holds barred. So there you have it. But in your wildest dreams I'll bet you'll be plenty shocked at what this plumped up, high budget horny slick desperate-grab-for-the-vanishing-buck has to offer.

YOU MIGHT MAKE A NOTE of the studio (20th-Century-Fox) who has brought this to the silver screen in all its gory crudity. They are derserving of a singular raspberry for being the first to sink lowest with the most ("Myra" and now "Valley"). Hurrah, for the filth pedlars of the century.

It might seem they meant it as an exploitive comedy, a far out satire on all that is sordid and lewd. The ultimate, you might say, in depravity, grotesquery and perversion. Don't you believe it — it's a cheap commercial film, one notch slicker than every other Meyer film that filled the box office tills. That alone justifies it in the studio's eye.

There is dope, decapitation, male and female homosexual activity, rape, murder, rock music, lots of pretty nude girls, a soap opera script, ludicrous dialogue, as blatant and ugly a series of orgies as were introduced with the Mondo Cane series and every freaky, sordid alliance you might stumble across in a filmmakers nightmare (via Los Angeles).

"Beyond" is neither far out nor camp. It's just about the most stupid, stomach turning piece of junk it's been my misfortune to review. It rates a triple "Yuk" on my scorecard: An X is too good for it. It's playing at three Peninsula theaters should you be eaten up with curiosity.

Marriage Vows Exchanged By D.C. Couple

Lynette Elaine LaRosa and James Soterios Chalios recently exchanged marriage vows at the Immaculate Conception Church.

The new Mrs. Chalios is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August D. LaRosa. The benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Soterios D. Chalios. Both families live in Daly City.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Lynette wore a white Victorian styled Empire gown with a high lace collar and matching lace on the puff sleeves.

Mrs. LaRosa, who attended her daughter, wore a silk multi-colored Oriental print costume. Mrs. Chalios was dressed in a two-piece beige and white suit.

Dean Chalios was his brother's best man.

After the ceremony, the immediate family gathered at the Olympic Club in Lakeside for a private dinner.

The new Mrs. Chalios changed to a beige knit dress for her Carmel honeymoon. She and James will live in Westlake.

Lynette attended Mercy High School in San Francisco and San Francisco College for Women. Donald A. LaRosa is her brother.

A Westmoor High School graduate, James studied at the College of San Mateo.

Bernadette Marver Weds In San Francisco Church

Seven attendants preceded Bernadette Louis Marver down the aisle of St. Paul's Church in San Francisco Saturday when she was married to Michael Benedict.

The Rev. Robert Duryea conducted the 4 p.m. ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Sons of Italy Hall. The couple is honeymooning in Carmel and Monterey before returning to live in Pacifica.

Bernadette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marver of Pacifica, was given in marriage by her father. She recited her vows in a white lace gown of six tiers to which was attached a tiered cathedral length train. A crystal crown held her elbow length veil in place and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white orchids.

Maid of honor for her sister was Vicki Marver who wore a long sleeved gown of yellow taffeta over chiffon. Similarly dressed in powder blue gowns were bridesmaids Sylvia Correro, Patty Gogas, Debbie Dunn, Arlene Nolan and Katie Morley. All carried cascade bouquets of yellow carnations tied with yellow streamers.

A miniature version of the maid's gown was worn by Julie Lanaham, the flower girl, who carried yellow carnations. Jimmy Cordova was ring bearer.

Best man was Tim Ford and guests were seated by Chris Cordova, Dennis Duffy, Mike Van Allen, Ed Dolores and Mike Albertoli.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Marver chose a deep rose silk outfit with matching coat and accessories. She also wore a white orchid corsage.

Among guests at the reception were the Monsignor Peter Armstrong , and the bride's grandparents, Ester Cordova and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ferrera, all of San Francisco.

Also present at the celebration were the bride's aunts and uncles, the Charles Medinas, and the Dan Vigils of San Francisco; the Joe Belardes Sr. and the Paul Cordovas of Daly City; and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Cordova of Novato.

The new Mrs. Benedict changed to a navy blue ensemble trimmed in white for her honeymoon trip. She also wore red crushed patent accessories.

Bernadette is an alumna of St. Paul's High School in San Francisco and her husband is a Sacred Heart High School graduate. Michael now attends Healds Business School. Paul Benedict is his brother.

Autumn Wedding Date Calendared

Newly engaged are Sheila Lindsay of Millbrae and David John Maiero of San Bruno who will exchange vows on November 14.

Sheila is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Lindsay Jr. and the sister of Michael and Steven Lindsay and Pamela Fennell. Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Lindsay Sr. are her grandparents. She was graduated from Mills High School.

The benedict-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aldo J. Maiero and the brother of Richard Maiero. He attended Serra High School and California State Polytechnic College where he was affiliated with Dela Chi Fraternity.

David's grandparents are Mrs. Albino Maiero and the late Mr. Maiero and Mr. and Mrs. Camillo Belfiore.

Members of the wedding party will include Gail Rogers, who will serve as maid of honor, and Carol Sorini, Marcia Maycox and Sandra Cardinale, who will be bridesmaids.

Richard Maiero will be his brother's best man and usher duties will be performed by Michael Sorini, Dan Payette and Bill Winters.

Finocchio's Show Plus Real Estate For Elton

Elton Paris, the lanky comedian in Finocchio's show of female impersonators, is now studying real estate. He plans to open an office in San Francisco with his cousin, George Norman.

Elton Paris

Elton, one of the drollest comics around the nightclub circuit, sends the ladies at ringside into hysterics with his deadpan routine .. . The pizzas come out of the ovens piping hot at Romano's Italian restaurant, Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Enrico Romano oversees the making of each pizza and makes certain nothing is skimped on . . . Tom Astwald, owner of the Patio Shops, features fashion shows twice a week at the Hyatt House Burlingame during the luncheon hour in both the Coffee Shop and Hugo's dining room. Supervising the fashion action (Wednesdays and Fridays) is General Manager Bill Griffin . . . Dinner was served sidewalk fashion in front of Pardini's Grotto during downtown Millbrae's Sidewalk Day Sale. Then the popular grotto was closed for four days to enable co-owner Gene Pardini to attend his sister's wedding . . . Lew Lehr's Steak House in the Marina district is one of San Francisco's most popular spots for special occasion dinner parties. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kauser celebrated their forty-fifth wedding anniversary with a gourmet steak dinner in Lehr's romantic, candlelit dining room.

Bruno Builds Solid Reputation With Food

Bruno Fava's personal culinary touch in the kitchen as well as his warm Continental personality in the dining room has made Bruno's Italian restaurant in downtown San Mateo a popular dine out spot. Bruno, who has built a solid reputation with such special dishes as Chicken Cacciatora with Polenta and Veal Cutlet a la Parmigiana, also caters to dinner parties and banquets, with special prices for groups over 10 . . . The San Raku Japanese restaurant in San Mateo is a family-style restaurant with an atmosphere which reminds one of a dining trip to Japan. The Tempura, a shrimp dish, is a tantalizing taste experience you shouldn't miss . . . Sal Campagna, owner of the the House of Troy in San Carlos, is a man of many interests and talents. He is a Junior High Science teacher, and could very well teach food preparation, too . . . The Lord Fletcher Inn of Atherton was host to a cocktail party sponsored by Hallmark Electronics, recently. Many stayed over to enjoy the authentic British food. Canterbury style Rack of Lamb, Olde Fashion English Chicken with Fluffy Home made Dumplings in the Pot, and the Sir Winston Steak were menu selections.

Sil Oliva of the Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf was one of the first restaurateurs to take an interest in the now famous tourist attraction. He set out to build one of the biggest and best restaurants on the Wharf. Today, the Exposition Fish Grotto stands as a center monument to Sil Oliva's faith in the success of Fishman's Wharf . . . Recently completed at the Executive House Hotel, Millbrae, is a sparkling plaid fabric and wood panelling entrance to the 101 Ranch Steak House dining room. General Manager Al Salah says that this is just the first step in remodeling the lobby of the hotel. Since the Executive House acquired the former Thunderbolt Hotel, they have undertaken an extensive remodeling project that has included meeting rooms, sleeping rooms and the exterior of the hotel . . . Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City has a priceless collection of antiques from all over the world. Clannish oddments are to be found everywhere. Here, the entree determines the cost of your dinner, which is started off with a crisp tossed salad (choice of dressing) and a basket of hot French bread.

Villa Coffee House Welcomes Entire Family

The Villa Coffee House has a "pre-Christmas gift" for all its patrons. Meaning, of course, complete dinners to satisfy the entire family — from tots to Senior Citizens — in a budget range that is the talk of San Mateo. Give note to the Monday through Sunday special menus which are changed daily. Children to age 12 will be delighted with the cute Clown Menu. A complete a la carte service is also available. If you have missed seeing cordial Steve Norton, Director of Sales at Villa Hotel, it's because he is enjoying a well-deserved vacation in Europe . . . It's SRO at Tino's European restaurant a short time after the doors open each day. If you're planning to have dinner here tonight, it's our suggestion that you make it early. The Continental cuisine is delish and the decor as Italian as the Island of Capri . . . Natale, the pianist-singer who is winning big plaudits in the cocktail lounge at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus Steak in San mateo, is also a composer. Several of his tunes have been recorded. His Tuesday through Saturday evening crowds are among the liveliest in the area. He's always happy to play requests.

Dick Saunders and his Orchestra feature a full swing sound in the Tiki Lounge at the Top of the Wheel, Harvey's Resort Hotel, South Lake Tahoe. Dick Saunders has assembled five accomplished musicians to back his nightly presentations for dining and dancing, through September 4, in Harvey's plush Polynesian nightspot . . . Looking for an ideal vacation site? Konocti Harbor Inn, located amidst the wonders of Clear Lake, is specially equipped to pamper you with relaxed living. The elegant dining room in the Club House features gourmet meals and a picture window view of the beautiful waters of Clear Lake. For breakfast, lunch or mid-day dining, there is a modern Coffee Shop. You will also find facilities and conveniences for meetings and conventions, with an experienced convention staff to help make the arrangements. There is an Olympic size fresh water swimminng pool, with adjacent terrace; a wading pool for tots; a Center for teenagers to enjoy dancing and juke box entertainment. Here, the family can relax in well appointed lake-view apartments with protected lanais, and be only a 2½ hours drive from the San Francisco Bay Area . . . New executives in Barney's Club, Lake Tahoe (South Shore), Nevada are General Manager Joe Ziccardi and Frank Sorce, Assistant general manager. Both are well versed in the operating of casinos, and should prove an asset to thriving Barney's . . . Whether it be a banquet in their fine banquet rooms, cocktails before or after-the-theater, luncheon or dinner, everything is handled most graciously at Sam Marconi's Iron Horse restaurant, located in the heart of Maiden Lane. The food is strictly the gourmet type, and Chef George Valenzula sees that everything is prepared to your taste.

Nick Gust, the restaurant Midas and Mayor of Pacifica, was in an over-the-table conversation wth Joe Cala, the Bay Area pie king, at Nick's famous Moonraker restaurant, Rockaway Beach. What's "cooking?" Your Bright Lighter hasn't the foggiest. But anything can happen when these two "swingers" in the business world get their heads together . . . Attorney Nathan Cohn has been in the Municipal Courts of Redwood City these past few weeks and where do you think he drives his Rolls Royce each noonday for lunch? You would be right if you said Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant in San Mateo . . . From the looks of The Shadows reservation book, one would almost think it was nearly the Thanksgiving or Christmas season. oodles of office parties, wedding receptions and special functions are scheduled in the beautiful Banque Room. . . . Lola Bertolucci Bogdan of Bertolucci's calls to remind us that in this day of strictly a la carte menu, her family's restaurant still proudly offers a variety of complete dinners. Homemade pasta, salad, entrees, plus exciting desserts . . . Al Anthony and the Assortment currently entertain in the plush Bon Vivant supperclub of the Cabana Hyatt House, Palo Alto, from 9:30 p.m. for dancing nightly except Sunday . . . No matter whether your choice be seafood, red meat or fowl, A. Sabella's, a show place on San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf, is an outstanding place to entertain . . . The Benjamin Franklin Hotel, located in the heart of San Mateo, offers comfortable room accommodations, a charming cocktail lounge, and restaurant facilities.

Swim Pool Completion Date Revised

Revised completion date of the South San Francisco Orange Avenue Swimming Pool is September 30.

Councilmen have authorized expenditures of $4,696.61 for 16 change order items and $11,383 for equipment and supply needs for the pool.

The revised completion date represents a delay of approximately 54 working days. This was due to 34 days lost to inclement weather at the beginning of the job and 20 days delay as a result of a teamsters strike.

Included in the change orders were placement of a permanent lifeguard station and benches for the shower rooms. Both items were deleted from original plans in an effort to hold down costs.

As for the equipment and supply needs, they were broken down into three categories; $5,265 for mandatory materials, from a commercial vendor, $678 for mandatory materials from city central stores and $5,440 for optional equipment and supplies.

Largest mandatory item from a commercial vendor is a cash register valued at $2,000. It will have a pre-set cost button and an automatic change maker.

The mandatory materials from the city central stores includes $85 in "loose" materials for a first aid kit. And optional equipment, much of it related to racing, included an $1,800 expenditure for starting blocks for racing.

Superintendent of Recreation and Parks Bob Maxey said he recommended that both optional and mandatory items be purchased now "to create the greatest degree of flexibility and programming in the operation of the new swimming pool."

Environment Hearings Set By S. Bruno

San Bruno's Environmental Control Study Committee, which recently made preliminary reports covering the environmental problems confronting the city, has set a schedule of public hearings.

Here is the schedule: Water and Bay Pollution for September 16, Transportation and Rapid Transit for September 30, Bay Fill and Dirt Hauls for October 14, Air Pollution for October 28, Solid Waste Disposal for November 11, Noise and Noise Pollution for November 25 and Ecology Action and Related Organizations for December 9.

The format of the hearings, according to Councilman Ted Long, chairman of the group, is that a committeeman responsible for a given discipline will schedule speakers, who will come forward and present evidence in the field under discussion.

These experts then will be questioned by members of the environmental committee and members of the audience. Following this, the public will be invited to add their thoughts.

Long said, "All proceedings will be recorded for transcription and editing. At the conclusion of the hearings, the committee will put out a document that will thoroughly exhaust environmental problems and solutions for the San Bruno area," he said.

"It is hoped that this will then be a guide so other communities can come forward also and set up environmental limitations and projects," said Long.

Committee members are Sylvia Gregory, Larry Green, Louis Fontenrose, Ken Wortenberg, Kevin Ryan, John Gillingham, Marian Daughtery and Beverly Head.

Power Out In S.S.F.

More than 3,600 South San Francisco homes and businesses were without electricity for a little more than a half hour Thursday after the top of a power pole was burned through.

A Pacific Gas and Electric Company spokesman said the power went out at 7:58 a.m. on two circuits, one a 12,000 volt line, the other 4,000 volts.

One of the East Grand section lines was back in service at 8:31, the second two minutes later.

South San Francisco firemen were on the scene in the Airport-Armour streets vicinity for nearly two hours after the fire started.

AS I SEE IT — Trim SSF Budget With Equality!

By BOB PETERSON

AT THAT MEETING BETWEEN merchants and Daly City officials last week, Frank Spadarella, owner of Totó's Restaurant, was asked by Mayor Bud Lycett if he was representing the Chamber of Commerce? The answer was "No, I'm here to protect the price of pizza."

SPADARELLA WAS LATER heard to remark "The whole thing's as American as the flag and pizza pie."

YOU HEARD IT first right here in this little old column. Watch for a raise in your garbage collection rates in the wake of a recent three year agreement on wage and fringe benefits between Daly City Scavenger Company and its employees.

Coupled with the water hike, not to mention the County's tax bite (someone's gotta pay for those raises they voted on), and a slight tax hike in the city (we predicted months ago), it looks like another interesting year's end.

The scavengers in Daly City last negotiated their contract three years ago and garbage rates increased. Sooo, figure it out!

FOR THE PAST five years Marti Doherty went through her daily office routine amidst a conglomeration of booze bottles, soda pop, and cartons of sundry items — always waiting for the day when Carl Barbato and Dan Ravetti would fullfill their promise of remodeling the interior of their Westlake Liquor store (didja catch that plug as it flashed past?). Well, to make a long story longer: The remodeling has finally finished — and Marti leaves to return to San Jose State next week.

YOU WILL RECALL, Dear Reader, at the last Monday night meeting of the South San Francisco City Council two weeks ago, we found San Bruno's quiet unassuming city manager, Kit Menkin, and Bruno Police Chief Russ Cunningham pleading their case before the SSF council concerning cooperation between the two cities on the hauling of dirt. They (happily) got some positive results and as they were leaving the council chambers, SSF Mayor Pat Ahern remarked "You're now one up on us." This was in reference to the fact that San Bruno owed SSF a favor. (That's how politics are played, kiddies).

However, as they passed through the doorway Chief Cunningham was heard to reply "We did eat in one of your restaurants." Frankly, we haven't quite figured out the meaning of the reply yet. But we are hopeful that when the dust settles from all those dirt haul trucks shuttling between Bruno and SSF, we'll find the answer we seek.

DIDJA KNOW that it takes about $6 worth of paper plus some $40 in manhours to process a $3 burglary? That being the case we can't understand why some law isn't passed forbidding burglars to steal less than $46 worth of stuff. You want me to run that one by again? I didn't think so.

BRUNO COUNCILMAN TED LONG was right in there the other night when roll call was taken. City Clerk Carl Hultberg called "Mayor Long" and without a moment's hesitation Long gave his "aye." You reading between the lines like I am, Mayor Christal? Hello, hello.

TIMES CHANGE and so do people. Just read in the First National Bank of Daly City's newsletter that a lady's lace hankie was lost in South San Francisco recently. That could NEVER happen back when I was in my prime. A lady's lace hankie hardly ever touched the ground before some handsome bloke would swoop it up and hand it back to the lady. Ya see, kids, it was a sorta message . . . Most of the time, that is!

CONGRATS to D.C. policeman Jim Doran who recently pinned on that yellow bar. Word is out around city hall not to call Doran "sarge," "Jim," or even "lieutenant." According to my sources, he now insists on an occasional "sir."

SICK CALL DEPT. — Mrs. Lynch of the Park Plaza Beauty Shop Lynch's, in Children's Hospital recovering from surgery . . . D.C. Postmaster Vince Murphy at his Russian River summer place coming along nicely from that heart attack that felled him. Yes, he did give up smoking. Yes, he is on a diet. No, he still can't have visitors . . . Did we mention last week that Jack Friedman, (affectionately known as "Mr. Democrat" to his firends) cracked a few ribs when he tripped the light fantastic off his roof? We didn't? Well, he did! Blamed it on the ladder collapsing.

ONE FOR THE BOOKS — D.C. officers Ken Cole and Tom Mason went to Mary's Help Hospital for info on an accident report. A nurse approached and asked how Lieutenant Tom Culley was doing after his leg injury. It seems there was another Tom Culley in the hospital.

Here's the twist: The two officers returned to the station and confronted Culley with the news that another Tom Culley was in the hospital. The officer decided to have a look at his namesake and, behold, it was his father whom he had believed killed in World War II.

Lt. Culley and his father had been separated because of the war 28 years ago and the boy was raised by foster parents.

In South San Francisco parity is a word obviously reserved for the police and fire departments. For the record, there are other departments and employes. Vital city services include more than writing traffic citations and putting out fires.

This is not to downgrade the safety departments, rather to redirect awareness to the jobs performed by other city empioyes.

A review of the present status of the city's budget, and reflecting on the ceremonial way it was chopped, makes it appear some councilmen think other city departments can operate efficiently on a shoestring indefinitely.

After 12 years on the council, Mayor Patrick Ahern should know better. Yet he led the recent budget cutting campaign that is leaving several major departments bare, at the same time directing monies and personnel in that direction he wishes to consider vital.

AND THE MAYOR apparently even has a double standard on that. While appearing to graciously grant Police Chief Sal Rosano's requests for men, he shuns the need for administrative people, instead okaying beat patrolmen. Common sense and logical explanations as to the necessity of administrative personnel to serve the officers already in the field are to no avail.

The police chief's efforts to mold a crack department recently were further frustrated by Ahern's, at the very least, questionable stand against bond financing a new police facility.

Ostensibly in a sense of concern for the public, the mayor, backed by councilmen Frank Bertucelli and William Borba, grant additional men on limited terms, and expect them to operate in a cracker box situation.

And if the police are considered by this leadership trio to be vital, the firemen are indispensible. Some political activists question whether this is as to the smoke-eaters value to the residents or more to the trio's continued city hali dominance.

Take overtime pay as an example. Ahern was adamant in his stand that no department, other than, of course, the "vital" services should have an overtime account.

As an object lesson he cut all overtime from the City Planner's budget. It was budgeted at $2,000. As a justification, and as a reward for services above and beyond the call of an eight hour day, the mayor ordered a $500 a year salary increase for the assistant planner.

THE POLICE DEPARTMENT has $77,000 budgeted for overtime, justified by the fact officers must be called in on off days to appear in court, and must remain on duty to complete the reams of necessary forms, plus for unexpected emergencies.

And the fire department has $74,107 budgeted in overtime pay. This incidentally was a jump up from $34,173 originally budgeted by Fire Chief John Marchi, who told the councilmen it was either the additional $40,000 in overtime or five more men for the department.

It is interesting to note that firemen received overtime pay this past May, June and July averaging $4,000 to $6,000 per payroll. That's for a two week pay period for less than 50 men, more than $200 a month a man in overtime. Looking at it another way, it's also more than $100 a man for an eight-hour shift.

What for? The explanation listed is "manpower shortage." But the reason was to stack the station to obtain a good fire rating. The city has held a fire rating of three (3) since 1953, and is hoping soon to hear it has retained it this year. To get this rating in year's past it was not necessary to pay up to $20,000 in overtime. Was it?

But back to that word parity. According to the lexicographers, it means equality, balance, same in value, etc., etc.

That could be interpreted to mean, if you're going to trim a budget, do it with equality to all departments, to obtain a balance among desires and actual needs so that one department's values do not exceed his actual needs.

WITHOUT HESITATION the city council budget's expense account — euphemistically referred to as memberships and meetings — was increased by $2,000, from $5,000 to $7,000. (Councilman Frank Mammini is known to return unused monies.)

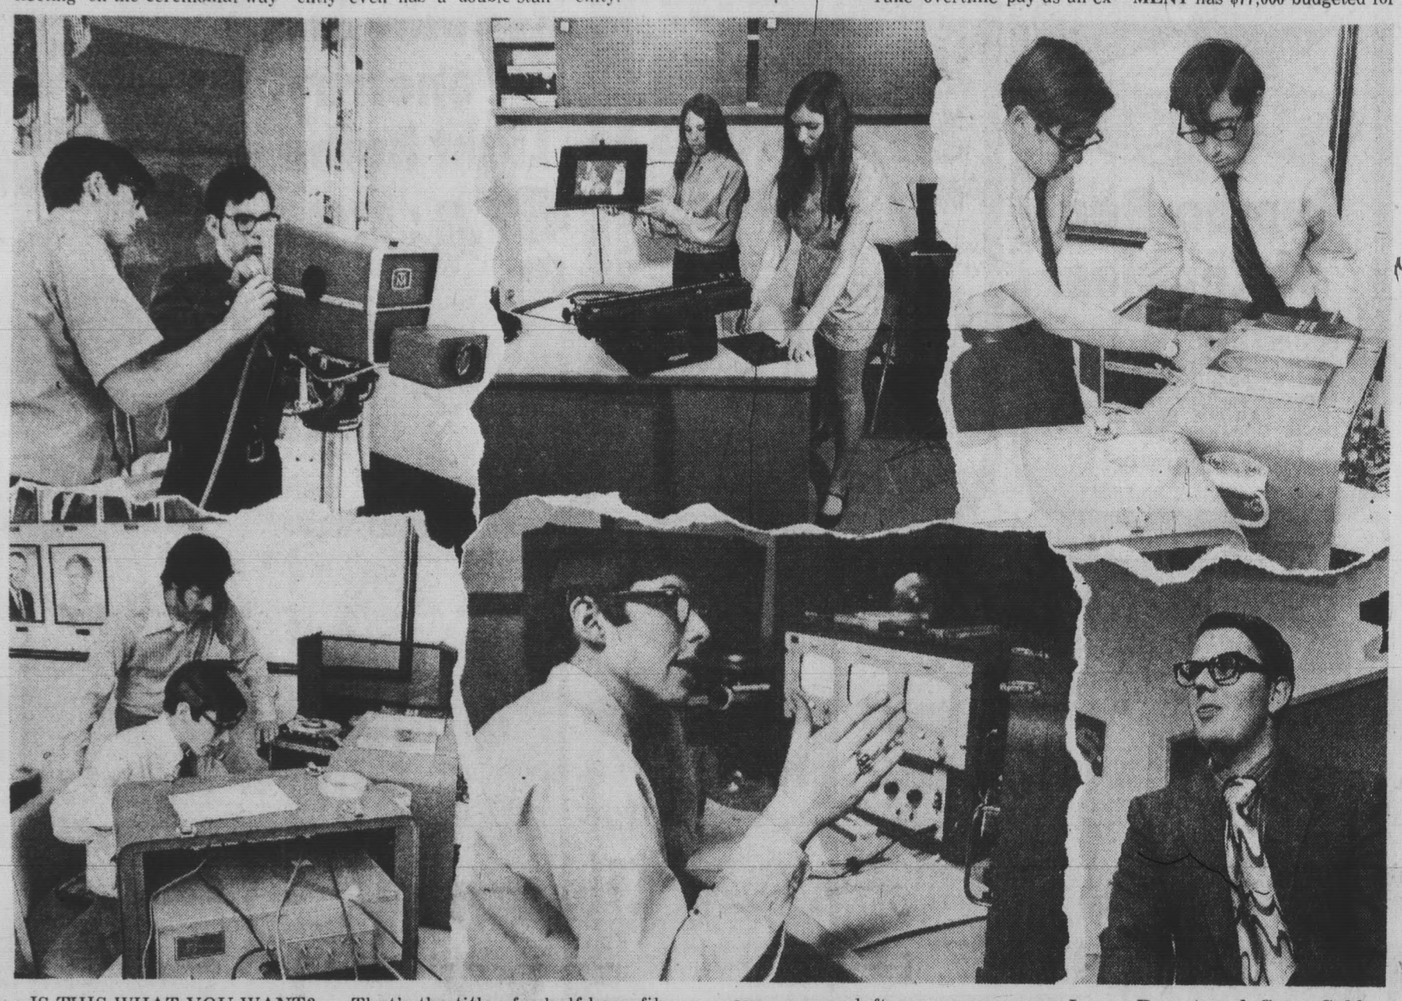
Yet without compunction, the membership and meeting accounts of the park and recreation department and city manager were reduced. Both also lost asked-for assistants. And the city manager and planning director also were stripped of a $50 car allowance. This cost cutting move incidentally jacked the city's garage account up by $500 to add needed pool cars and make for more insurance coverage.

It appears to be nit-picking or unnecessary badgering when three major department heads lose budget items as inconsequential as taking away a car allowance of $50 a month. But the same money-savers don't blink at putting out more than $200 a month to have a fireman hang around the station to impress a fire rating inspector.

Was the cutting of overtime in the planning department, consisting of two men, really that much of an austerity move? Is the city clerk's budget figure of $8,644 for part-time salaries, and the part-time salaries budget, up from $3,000 to $6,000, for the city attorney's account any more vital? They were kept intact.

If they're going to cut out the automobile allowance from two department heads, why not all department heads?

SUFFICE IT TO SAY, the entire budget proceeding appears to be an exercise in non-parity. There'll undoubtedly have to be more shuffling, too, if the firemen get their 56-hour work week. Odds are, some so-called "non-vital" departments will suffer if they do.



IS THIS WHAT YOU WANT? — That's the title of a half-hour film on the youth employment service and it was produced by these high school students — many from Oceana High in Pacifica. Their production will be shown on a date to be announced over the Pacifica cable television system. Lower left, Harold Faulkner, the show's director, is helped out by John Andrews of the cable company; upper left are cameramen Larry Perret and Gary Goldberg; upper center, Cynthia Lawrence and Miriam Fall prepare some of the visual material; upper right are technician Alan Lee and Faulkner; at lower right is narrator Axel Stotz and at lower center is Faulkner preparing to film the first segment.

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

THE "COLOR OF MAN" is a plain facts book that could be read with profit by many people although it is addressed to children.

Color in human beings writes Robert Cohen, author of the text, is determined by "tiny grains of coloring mateial or pigment. There are five different pigments of skin, but the one which has the most to do with color is a black pigment called Melanin. "The separate grains of melanin can only be seen through a powerful microscope. They are so small that when we look at them with the naked eye they blend together and give the skin an even-colored appearance."

"Everyone's skin, whether light, medium or dark in color, contains black melanin. We see different skin colors because the amount of melanin in the skin varies from person to person." Moreover melanin accounts for the color of eyes and hair as well as skin.

Color, that is the quantities of the various pigments in the skin, are passed from one generation to the next by six or eight color genes and a child may inherit anyone of at least thirty-six mixtures of genes from his parents. This accounts for differences in the colors of individuals within one family.

THE ARRANGEMENT of genes — other than the color genes — account for the physical features of the individual — such factors as the shape of the members of the body, the curl in the hair and height and weight, etc.

Apparently the pigments in the skin and the physical appearances have little relation to intelligence and to its — correlanes such as talents, emotions and ambition. "Scientists have not been able to discover any inborn physical or psychological reasons why a dark-skinned person cannot be as intelligent, healthy and law-abiding as anyone else — if he is given the opportunity."

"It is the historian, rather than the scientist, who can show us why the lighter-skinned nations are more wealthy and powerful at the moment. It is nothing but coincidence, a matter of the history of the past few centuries. The best proof that there is no connection between a person's skin color and his mental or physical ability is that the situation is changing.'

In the section of "The Color of Man" called the afterword Dr. Juan Comas writes that race differences are due to sociology rather than differences in mankind, thus punctuating Dr. Cohen's statement "All men are brothers. People have been saying this in one form or another for thousands of years. Even when almost nothing was known scientifically about the human body, wise men claimed that all human beings were alike no matter what their nation or language or color might be. And today, scientists have proved that the wise men were right."

AS PROOF OF HIS STATEMENT Dr. Cohen offers this. "We know, for instance, that different species of animals can not mate and produce children. Yet all over the world, people of every conceivable color; light-colored Europeans, medium-colored Asiatics, and dark-colored Africans, have married and raised families. So, whatever their color, all men belong to the same species."

It is a lesson that needs to be learned by prejudice men, black as well as white, and yellow men and red men, any

San Francisco has a self-destructive tendency. The temptation on the part of its elected officials to ruin the City, and with it the Bay Area, as a center of commerce seems great. San Francisco seems currently interested in taxing itself out of existence, and the Bay Area, as well as the entire State of California, watches aghast at its suicidal efforts.

The Bay Area is unique. Instead of just spreading out over the countryside in a glutinous mass of parking lots and small buildings, San Francisco's financial district grew tall, compact, beautiful, and useful. Comparisons with Manhattan are real, and there is a chance that as the drift westward continues, San Francisco's financial district will even more become the west coast center for finance, insurance, shipping, and professional services. Its continuing growth can be measured by the astonishing number of additional feet available in major, air-conditioned, modern buildings. Even so, there are some indications that San Francisco's downtown growth is not keeping pace with Los Angeles. Many important firms have removed to the suburbs and the drift away from the metropolitan center continues.

For reasons that are hard to understand, San Francisco does not appreciate the nature of its bounty. Public officials continue to search for ways to tax commuters. They forget that, even though commuters do not vote in San Francisco, their offices fill the buildings, pay the rents, and conduct the business in large part.

Furthermore, there is no reason why commuters have to house in San Francisco. With modern media and transportation it is quite possible for businesses to locate well in suburbia. So that if, on top of commuting, cluttered streets, over-crowded restaurants, expensive parking and municipal confusion, there is to be added some kind of punitive taxation for the privilege of working in San Francisco, the balance might well fall against its financial and commercial center. San Francisco should be reminded that it is now a city of barely over 700,000 in a busy state of 20 million people. Someone should remind the city fathers that the industrial base has already largely removed from the city's boundaries, and that more than 60 per cent of the total property tax of San Francisco comes from real estate and businesses in the downtown area. In one of the interminable studies made by the elected establishment, the city fathers might well get a head count of San Francisco residents who are provided jobs in firms that could easily operate elsewhere.

For years, San Francisco has looked hungrily on business, commerce, and the commuter, as a source of revenue. Two years ago a business tax was instituted with assurances that it would only endure for five years. It is now proposed that this gross receipts tax, which was to whither away, is to be doubled, and that there will also be a parking lot tax and a 5 per cent tax on utilities. All of these would increase the burden of conducting business in San Francisco.

True enough, something like 25 million dollars would be generated. However, about this same amount will probably result from adoption of Governor Reagan's tax package. San Francisco seems ready to adopt the increase in local tax on a one-year basis, and thus, if the Governor's program did pass, have a double windfall. One elected official has suggested that the new tax would be carried for one year and then dropped if the Governor's program were adopted. If these taxes were, in fact, discontinued it would be an American "first". History has it that taxes are never deleted but always expanded.

San Francisco's city fathers have no electoral obligation to commuters, but these dreadful strangers have added tremendously to the scope and capacity of the city's health and vitality. The astonishing number of additional feet added each year in major buildings, are sufficient testimony to the gathering of forces in a compact area. The few blocks of high-rise buildings function as the center of a vortex into which millions of dollars flow each year.

It must be admitted that residential San Francisco was hard hit by the Petris-Knox Act — AB80 which required assessment of all property at 25 per cent of full cash value. It changed a long-standing, but tacit, policy that commercial enterprises should bear a higher proportion of the tax burden. But if the Governor's tax program is passed, much of this imbalance will be corrected. Because of the shifting effect of the Governor's program it was not surprising that Mayor Alioto strongly supported its principle.

In this day of the megalopolis it is strange to see parochial claims doing great damage to an entire area. All of northern California has an intimate interest in the continuing health of this core center. To say it would be stupid for local politicans to tax northern California's business center out of existence would be an understatement.

LETTERS
To The Editor

Editor, The Post:

In your editorial section of Saturday, June 27, 1970, Mr. S. D. Swartz of San Mateo in answering Mrs. Vella's letter, accuses her of being anti-Semitic.

I wonder why Jews try to brand themselves as the only Semitic people on this earth, and would prefer that the whole world look at them as such.

Is it because they consider themselves a superior race, the only chosen people, above all Gentiles?

If so, the word "Semite" does not very well apply to Jews alone. Webster's Dictionary defines a Semite as: "A member of any of the people whose language is Semitic, including the Hebrews, Arabs, Assyrians, Phonecians, Babylonians, etc. Not specifically a Jew."

Comparing Two 'Devastating' Baseball Teams

LE PACINI

Sportscripts

It doesn't happen too often,
But every 10 or 15 years,
An outstanding baseball team
On the scene appears

The Athletics and the Yankees
Were the most famous ones, it seems,
And the cry went out to break up
These most powerful teams

The present Cincinnati Reds
Seem to be heading toward that fame,
But we have a team, we think,
Whose record puts the Reds to shame

Our Lady of Mercy Mavericks
Are producing outstanding deeds,
We can't be sure of course,
But could it be they carry Rosary Beads?

SO YOU THINK THE CINCINNATI REDS are devastating? Deduct 15 years from the ages of Johnny Bench and Tony Perez and Lee Maye and Bobby Tolan and Pete Rose and Bernie Carbo and the rest of those big men and we'll pit them — any day — against the Our Lady of Mercy Mavericks. Have the Reds gone undefeated? Heck, they've lost about 35 games, and may lose another 15 before their season is over. The Mavericks chalked up a 13-0 record in the C Division of the Farm Club League this past summer. Of course, the Mavericks are only second and third graders, but no less feared in their league than Cincy is in the National League.

Manager Noel Mertens, a former St. Ignatius and San Francisco State basketball player, was always ready for those around the league who claimed Mertens was running ringers in on them and wanted to break up the Mavericks. He'd cooly flash birth certificates and end all arguments.

"We had a couple of kids big for their age," says Noel, "but ironically, the smaller kids were the stars."

Don't let the 43-8 and 31-3 scores kid you. The Mavericks early deficits at times merely added to the character of the team and made it stronger than it would have been with 13 laughers.

FOR INSTANCE, there was the one against the PAL Indians. Down 5-3 in the seventh, the Mavericks pulled it out, 15-9 (They play nine innings in the Farm Club League, just like the big fellas.) And then there was the time against the PAL Giants. Behind 9-2 entering the ninth, the Mavericks showed no mercy. They won, 10-9.

Mertens, a veteran recreation league manager who has coached such future major league stars as Frank Bertainia and Allan Galagher (in civilian life he's a San Francisco elementary school vice principal), did his best to make it easer on the other teams. Taking advantage of the league's free substitution rule, he formed two complete equal teams from his 20-man roster and played them in alternating 2½-inning intervals. (This easily adhered to the league rule that a player must play at least nine outs before being replaced.)

The only time they deviated from that eminently fair procedure was in the tight PAL Indian game, when Mertens took the cream from each of his two "teams" and played that group as a unit during the last three innings.

Evidently, the only thing which is going to stop Mertens from creating a dynasty is promotions — and aging.

Who are these Monsters of Mercy? One of the most promising, according to Mertens, is fielding pitcher (in this league, managers and coaches pitched to preserve young arms, and players fielded the pitcher's position) Doug Price, a guy who was averaging a homer a game until he was injured. Another top prospect is third sacker Gary Migale, a pretty good hitter with a rifle arm.

Modesty almost forbids, but not quite, and Mertens must confess that his son, Kevin, was also one of the mainstays. An outfielder-first baseman who alternated between positions whenever defense was needed in whichever spot, Mertens says of his son, tersely, "Good glove, must improve with the stick."

OTHER SUPERSTARS were John McNulty, a fielding pitcher who can use the leather and hit; John Grealish, a first baseman who won the local Phillips 66 pitch, throw and bat contest; Tom McNab, a shortstop who was an outstanding fielder and one of the club's better hitters, and Rick Restivo, a slick fielding, power hitting third baseman.

The other roster players, all of whom contributed greatly to the cause were: catchers Jeff Columbini and Jim Byrne; first baseman Kevin Mahoney; second baseman Bill Ahern and Buzzy Locke (who also played center); shortstop Terry White; outfielders Mike Soldati, Steve Fitzpatrick, Pete Hopkins, Mike Peyton, Dennis Dovichi, Dave Peloquin, and utility man Jack Cremen.

Mertens is quick to point out that the team effort went beyond the cooperation of the bids. Without several of the fathers, Noel's job would have been back-breaking. His assistant coach was Bob White. Dick Locke coached third, Ed Cremens first.

Don McNab helped Mertens pitch to the youngsters. Ray Peloquin was a general all-purpose coach. Other fathers who were always around, always ready to fill in, and who helped considerably, were Frank Byrne, Lee Hopkins, Bill Ahern and John McNulty.

And we'll bet Kevin Mertens' father can lick Johnny Bench's father!

BUT NOW BACK to the big boys, and speaking of Cincinnati, what kind of odds do you think you could have gotten a month ago that Tony Perez wouldn't be the first major leaguer to hit the 100 RBI plateau? Had you bet that at least TWO National League hitters would beat him to it, you could have retired your whole family, including distant relatives. But baseball is a funny game and so Perez's own teammate, Johnny Bench, and Chicago's Billy Williams beat him to the century mark.

That Bench, especially, beat the seemingly insurmountable Perez lead in RBI's (not to mention homers — but then EVERYBODY has caught up to Perez in that department) is amazing. Keep in mind that Bench has been batting behind Perez in the order all season, and that as a consequence, each didn't often have men on base or in scoring position for much of the season because Perez had been clearing the bases! When Perez slumped, of course, Bench got more RBI opportunities. But that Bench was able to stay within striking distance with so relatively few opportunities was, as we said, amazing. That's the trouble, on a personal basis when you're a slugger going for an RBI title and have a teammate as a competitor, especially when he bats in back of you. You not only don't get the RBI's that you fail to drive in yourself, but you give your "opponent" a better opportunity to fatten up.

Willie McCovey might have caught up with and surpassed them all if only somebody would pitch to him. It was thought in spring training that if McCovey had somebody hitting heavy behind him it would discourage all of the purely intentional and unintentional — in quotes — walks issued to big Willie Dietz and Henderson and now Hart have all hit behind Willie, but it hasn't slowed his walk production down a bit.

One of the reasons why, aside from the fact that he still may be the most feared hitter in the NL, is that unlike Perez, for example, or even Henry Aaron, he bats left handed and most pitchers are right handed. Since Dietz is a right handed swinger and is the man who has usually batted behind McCovey this season, most right handed pitchers would still rather throw to even a hot hitting Dietz than McCovey, especially in Candlestick, where the wind works against the righties and for the lefties. A right handed pitcher, though, would be more inclined to take a chance on right handed hitting sluggers, even if they are Aaron or Perez.

INCIDENTALLY, aside from his many aches and pains, one of the reasons for McCovey's mild slump this year may be simply because he doesn't get enough hitting practice because of all the walks he's issued and the bad pitches he's fed. The poor guy seldom gets more than a couple of good rips a game.

THINGS WE'LL BET YOU NEVER KNEW (OR HAVE NEVER THOUGHT ABOUT):

Bet you never knew that Walter Johnson holds the all-time record for a pitcher's single season batting average. Yep, in 1925 at age 38 he hit .440. His two for six as a pinch-hitter brought him down to an overall .433. The only other time Johnson hit over .300 was in his last year in 1927, when he batted .348. His lifetime average was .236.

National League record holder is a former Giant, Jack Bently, who hit .427 his first year with the Giants in 1923 after an up and down career with Johnson's club, Washington. He hit .406 that year as a "pitcher" and .500 — ten for twenty — as a pinch-hitter. Bentley, too, had only one other season as a .300 hitter, when he hit .303 for the Giants in 1925. But he had a lifetime BA of .300 as a pinch-hitter and .291 overall.

Unfortunately for the Giants and other clubs for whom Bentley pitched in his nine-year career, he couldn't challenge Johnson as a pitcher. The hard-swinging, soft throwing lefty won only 46 major league games, 40 of them as a Giant. Like Johnson, he retired after the 1927 season, but he was only 32.

And finally, isn't it odd that what may be baseball's two unbeatable records were both established in 1941. If you haven't already guessed, that was the season that Ted Williams hit .406 and Joe DiMaggio had his 56 game hitting streak. Another oddity which we had never before realized. Williams didn't get 200 hits that year. Only 185. As a matter of fact, Ted never had more than 194.

Action At DC Playgrounds

WESTMOOR HIGH
(Rusty McManus)

The Westmoor High youngsters were strictly victorious this week in Sports Clinic action. On Friday Westmoor took two soccer games from Jefferson, in the "A" contest, 5-3, and the "B" tilt, 7-3. Tim Powell had three goals for the "A" team, while Chuck Ravelle booted four for the "B's."

Meanwhile, in a three-way wrestling meet, Westmoor toppled Jefferson and War Memorial Center with a team total of 30 points, while Jefferson had 15, War Memorial was second with 17 points. John Fischer was the big gun for Westmoor, as he personally accounted for 15 points in the 50-pound weight class with three pins.

Football will start this week and all interested youngsters are reminded that it's not too late to join the Sports Clinic. In recent years football has proven to be the most popular of the Sports Clinic Events, drawing well over 100 youngsters from the 7-12 year age bracket.

WESTLAKE PARK
(Tom McCarthy)

Westlake Park's Softball Team battled the Bayshore Do-Bees recently, only to be defeated. Bruce Costello collected a home run, a single and a long double for Westlake Park to up his average to .600.

Sue Tomaselio, current checker champion is all set for all opponents for the scheduled Checker Tourney.

Circus Maximus, the summer program's fun-day, is scheduled to be held here at Westlake Park on August 20. Our playground will host all City Playgrounds that day with a Parade, Junior Olympics and Carnival planned.

DANIEL WEBSTER
(Daniel Montelongo)

Last week Webster held its strike out tourney. It lasted almost four hours, with Jerry Hansen taking third, Grant Critanich second, and John Seamen first.

John pitched five games and only allowed six runs. It was Mike Clabby who got four of the runs, but he could not continue, because of a sprained ankle.

Also, Barbara Samuelson defeated champion Jump Rope Queen Jane Clabby, by jumping 103 skips in one minute.

The Three Little Pigs is the theme for Daniel Webster's playground entry for Circus Maximus on August 20, and help is needed to design a float.

WAR MEMORIAL CENTER
(Andy Foley)

Ping pong has been a great competitive attraction at the Center throughout the summer. On Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 2:30 to 4:30, three tables are rolled out into the gym to the long line of eager players. So far, there have been two tournaments, with stiff competition.

Kyle Terzian prevailed in the first tourney with first place honors. Kyle pulled out of the tight pack to become the champion, with George Francisco second, Roger Farnero third. In the second tourney, the surprising darkhorse, Janine Mignault, came out on top by beating the previous champ and prevailing gloriously throughout the rest of the tournament.

Janine fought off John Espinoza's surging bid for the title. John bowed to the new champ 21-18, taking second place. Last year's champ, Wayne Bascom, started his come back this tourney doing well winning the consolations.

WOODROW WILSON SCHOOL
(Francine Mohn)

A number of children came to Woodrow Wilson playground for an afternoon of balloon relays. The games included various techniques of walking or running with the balloon and each game culminated with a balloon burst.

Participants were Debbie and China Reed, Ray Lillo, Jackie and Richard Reyes, Tyrone Reed, Joe Bender, Dawane Montoya, Timmy Bender, Ricky Kelly, Michael Hicks, Soloman and Delilah Jones, Richard Roach and Frank Kelly.

Winners of the yard length race were Ray Lillo first, Michael Hicks second and Joe Bender in third place. The victors in the under-age 10 groups were first, Greg E. Lawrence; second, Kevin Reed; third, Richard Reyes.

VISTA GRANDE
(Gail Castelli)

Vista Grande playground went on an excursion trip to Serra Bowl. High scoring bowlers were Tony Rutland, Kim Smith, and Mindy Ricci. Other bowlers were Chris Ricci, Ray Rutland, Andrew Wetherbee and Kathi Smith.

Vista Grande has chosen the theme of Cinderella for the parade at Circus Maximus, Fun Day.

The Characters will be played by, Chris Ricci, Mindy Ricci, Kim Smith, Mildred Wetherbee, Maria Wetherbee, Keith Torres, Yvette Sandoval, Andrew Wetherbee, Jose Ruiz, Tony Rutland, Marcella Wetherbee, Kathy Smith, Kathy Frick, Eugene Moll, Lorrie Cooper, Kathy Farrell, Kathy Zellmann, Pam Moll, Shaun Andersen and Victor Ruis.

F. D. ROOSEVELT
(Robert Toledo)

The highlight of the week at F. D. Roosevelt happened during the Physical Fitness Program. Five records were broken in one day, not including a record turnout of 17 kids.

The records broken were by Evangell Lewis who did 11 chin-ups, Donna Ernst who did 44 sit-ups in one minute for the girls and Dane and Jim Stout who did 43 sit-ups in one minute for the boys. Barbara Ernst ran the 50 yard dash in 7.1 seconds and Jim Stout did 41 push-ups. Some of the other outstanding contestants were Al and Debbie Ernst, Jim Russitano, Mike Feagin, Clay Troxler, John Profiet, Everson Louis, Mark Burghorr, Kevin Goodwin, David Trisma, and Terry Louis.

SKYLINE SCHOOL
(Mike Macia)

The special activity at Skyline School has been Bead Making. So far, Bobby and Karen Gerstle, Kenny Armous, Mark Galistus, Paul Sturm, Marty Wilson, Mike Dietz, and Kevin Ortegor have made themselves some lucky beads.

Faith Frazitta is finishing up a really nice string and many others are going to make some strings this week. Mike Gallsatus and Mike Desmond are credited with outstanding play for softball play this week. Winner of the Skyline 25 Bike Race, last week was the team of Dave Brown, Todd Edginton and Byron Lee.

Movies are at 12:30 on Fridays, and cartoon, Tuesday mornings.

PANORAMA
(Steve Roche)

Panorama has crowned a new ping pong champ, Giselle Hallare. Giselle played magnificently as she defeated all of her opponents easily.

Laura Howard has earned the nickname of Betty Crocker as she won the Baking Contest. Laura baked a tasty chocolate cake ; Lori Chasy who baked cookies, was the runner-up. Ralph Macia, Bobby Gradwohl, Gino Rinaldi, Dennis Majourau, and Bruce "Muscleman" Nicolay were the Judges. Panorama lost its softball game against Marchbanks Park, by a score of 12-10. John Gradwohl murdered the ball, hitting two homers and a double for Panorama. Tony Barnes was the defensive star for the losers. Preparations have started for the Circus Maximus to be held August 20th. Fairy Tales and Nursery Rhymes are the themes of the Parade entries, and the making of the costumes and float will begin next week. Everyone's help will be needed.

PALISADES PARK
(Lloyd Perry)

The girls softball team at Palisades Park proved their ability by defeating the boys team in a hard fought defensive battle 14-13. The girls slugging attack was spear-headed by Lynn Shabunka who had two home runs and five RBI's. The hitting was also supported by Cathie Shabunka and Kathie Goheen who had three hits apiece. The boys team made a gallant comeback effort paced by Perry Ash, Steve Scabunka, Clay and Calvin Collier. Barbecues will be every Friday at 3 p.m. for the rest of the summer. Participants are asked to bring food and cook their own dinner. A scavenger hunt is planned for August 14 at noon.

OUR LADY OF MERCY
(Peg Davenport)

Our Lady of Mercy held a bike decorating contest last week, which was great fun and a grand success. There was a tie for first place winner between Diane and Elaine Murray. This week everyone at Our Lady of Mercy is gathering materials needed for the big parade at Westlake Park, August 20. Our number one gatherer of empty Clorox bottles is Dee Tissier. Joanne Ahern is working diligently on Humpty Dumpty's costume and Maureen Bennette, Lori Parise, Debbie McGrath and Jody Christofani can be found everyday cutting out cardboard horses and painting walls.

OLYMPIA
(Larry Becker)

A new football powerhouse was discovered as Captain Joey Borelli lead his forces to a smashing 45-0 route of the "Cremins." Leading rusher and scorer went to halfback Gary Stipanich.

Chess tournament winners found John McStew in first place, Bob Cremin in second and "Hands" Restivo in third.

Checker honors were again displayed by powerful Lynn O'Connor in first place, Karen Toner was second and third runner-up was Lisa O'Connor. Highlights in our barbeque showed the eating champ to be super-thief, Ali Baba, Mark Campbell and George McLaughlin reigning as Olympia's all-time eating champion guiping his way past challenger Gary Bodi.

NORTHRIDGE PARK
(Nick Nicolas)

Northridge Park held an open Carroms Tournament to see who could unseat the current champion, Jim Murphy. His first opponent in the best out of three game series was Larry Barredo who quickly gave way to the champ.

By dropping two games straight Jim's next opponent was Kelly Gillihan. Kelly showed much strength and accuracy as he won the first game and was well on his way to the champship until Murphy came to life. The Champ took two straight thereafter. Jim Murphy is still the champion and more competition will be going on.

ABE LINCOLN
(Marti Beltrano)

Last week's special event was baby dress-up day. All the children dressed as babies and performed all games with a baby-like handicap.

The children who participated in the contest were Steve and David Gregory, Corinne, Carole, Ellen and Don Clawson, Ron and Russ Ranelli, Jackie Winters, Cindy De Groft, Sue Lapin, Elaine Sally, Kathy Frates, Eli and Henry Hall, David Cini, Nancy Greenblatt, Joey Sertz.

Last week was Hippie Week. The children built hippie signs and had a lot of far-out games and contests. The finale was Hippie Dress up Day on Friday.

The children who participated were Allen and Peggy Morris, Pat McMillan, Ricky Baldocchi, David Cini, Don Clawson, Brad Zatcoff, Greg Zatcoff, Leonard Hogue, Janet and Tom Washerop, Dave Moorman.

The winners were: First place, Pat McMillan and Ricky Baldocchi; second place, Terry Zatcoff. This week there was a skating contest after the barbeque. Friday will be Pirate dressup Day.

The "Citizen of the Week" of July 24 were Mike Patterson and Mike Hyland. Last week's Citizen is Ellen Clawson.

LINCOLN PARK
(Brad Bassi and Rosemary Gant)

The bicycle contest held at Lincoln Park Clubhouse was a success. The competition was good and the contestants demonstrated their abilities to perform in the two categories, Bicycle Obstacles and Cross Country Race.

The results of the Bicycle Obstacle Course were: First place, tie, Jose Maldonado and Eddie Runne (27.5); second, Mark Troy (29.2); third, Ricky Estrada (29.4) and Frankie Maldonado (31.3).

The results of the Cross Country Race were Jose Maldonado (32.6); second, Jimmy Tolosa (57.7); third, Eddie Runne (59.1); fourth, Roderick Jenkins, (1.03.7).

Other contestants participating in the Bicycle Obstacle Course were Louis Ozenne (31.5); Miguel Sandino, (31.5); Cleo Jenkins, (32.0); Previs Jenkins, (34.5); Aaron Vurek, (34.6); Gabriel Sandino, (35.5); John Murray, (38.0); Rod Jenkins, (45.2); Christopher Rudolph, (45.2). The other contestants of the Cross Country Race were: Cedric Jenkins, (1.07.1); Frankie Maldonado, (1.11.3); Cleo Jenkins, (1.13.5); Bonnie Schennek, (1.16.0); Aaron Vurek, (1.19.5); Jennifer Jenkins, (1.24.0); Chris Rudolph, (1.31.0); Gabriel Sandino (2.00.0); John Murray (2:01.5).

The last big event of the Summer Program in which Lincoln Park will participate will be the Daly City Circus Maximus. The theme for the Parade Entry from Lincoln Park will be Robin Hood. Every one is invited to dress in the fashion of Robin Hood and his Merry Men.

JEFFERSON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
(Ginny Cristofani)

Little Jeff was given a special tour of Shakey's Pizza Parlor. Some of the participants in the outing were Pat Ahern, Michele Albright, Dani Bernard, Ricky Boardman, John, Julie, and Terry Dentoni, George Despirati, Caren, Cathy, Jayne and John Ferrari, Gina and Gloria Garibaldi, Russ "Swimmer" Giacaloni, Karen Gigli, Gary and Mark Johnston, Bill and Glen Kinard, Bonnie and Joyce Lipscomb, Diana and Janine Lovell, Steve Martin, Gary McArther, Janice and Leslie McDonald, Mitch Pernisie, Alfonso and Ronnie Portillo, Donna Rancatore, Bryan, DeeDee Hemmis and Kevin Rivers, Robbie Romo, Don and Greg Simon, Steve Sylvia and Clay Younger.

Good citizens of the week were Michele Albright and Steve Martin.

WINNING TEAM — Baseball league was set up in conjunction with summer school for deaf and hard of hearing students at Beresford community center, and captain Steve Cardinale accepted trophy for the winning team, the Hawks. At left is Stan Lew, outgoing president of county's Society for Deaf Children, a parent group, and center is Al Belotz, of Daly City new president. (Post Photo)

Daly City Shotmaker Wins SM Junior Golf

By JACK BLUTH

Seventeen-year-old Ray Pellegrini won't be around to defend his title in the Robert E. O'Brien Memorial Junior golf tournament next year, but his memory will linger on.

The Daly City shotmaker, who plays out of the Olympic Club, became the first junior to successfully defend his title in the 20-year old tournament Aug. 4.

Pellegrini toured wind-blown San Mateo Links with a two-over par 72 to go with his first round 71 and a 36-hole score of 143—one strike better than first round leader Jim Ahern of Burlingame. Ahern, who led the tournament after 18 holes with a par 70, fired a 74 August 4.

Bogey trouble plagued Ahern as Mike Mulhern of San Mateo tookover as the challenger with a surge of six birdies. But a double bogey on the par five sixteenth hole cost him the tournament title. He won the 14-15 year old division however.

In successfully defending his title, Pellegrini won his fifth tournament of the year. Earlier he took the East Bay junior title, the Stockton junior championship, the Cypress Hills Golf Club junior and the Northern California High School tournament at Silverado in Napa.

Stanford-Bound

The slightly built Westmoor High school student will be a senior at the Daly City school this fall. He plans to enroll at Stanford where he qualifies on two counts — as a student and a golfer. He owns a B plus grade average.

Pellegrini said he "wasn't satisfied" with his roun dlast week. He blamed his tw over-par effort on "the greens," which he said were hard and fast. "I missed a lot of putts, although some dropped."

Pellegrini, who won last year's tournament with a 70-68—138, carded a 35 on the front side this year and a 37 on the back — both one over par. He took a bogey four on the second hole. On the back, he took a bogey five on the tenth, got the stroke back with a birdie three on the thirteenth, took a bogey five on fifteenth and ditto the eighteenth.

Pellegrini was having lunch as Mulhern made his run. The San Mateo shotmaker, who needed a 68 to tie after a first round 75, had it going until he reached the sixteenth hole. He was three under par on the strength of six birdies — three of them coming in succession from the eighth through the tenth holes — going into the par five sixteenth. A bad drive and a pulled four-iron on a lag up attempt put him into the trees, and he ended up with a double bogey on the hole.

Bogey on 18th

After a par three on the 17th, Mulhern needed a birdie on the 18th hole for a tie. But he flew the green with his approach and took two putts to get down after a tough pitch shot from behind the green rolled 20 feet past the pin.

Ahern, the first-round leader, carded six bogies, three on each side. He recovered somewhat with birdies on both par five holes on the back side. But he bogied all of the par three holes, plus the par four third and thirteenth.

Hoop Title To Mitsy Alfafara

Brightly colored Hula Hoops were awhirl in kaleidoscopic patterns as Mitsy Alfafara won the third Annual National Hula Hoop Championships, sponsored locally by the San Bruno Recreation Department.

Eligible to participate were boys and girls from 5 to 15, with competition held at 10 recreation areas.

From Pacific Heights, Miss Alfafara will continue on into the regional competition in San Francisco and then, hopefully, toward the National Hula Hoop Championship, won last year by 11 year old Melody Howe at Torrance, as well as the $1,000 U.S. Savings Bond and trophy awarded the winner.

Performing to the beat of rock and roll music, and adding their own accompaniment with the "shoop-shoop" sound of their hula hoops, the youngsters are judged on such events as the knee knocker, the stork, alley opp, hula hop and wrap the mummy.

San Bruno Registration For Recreation Classes

Registrations are being taken at the San Bruno Rec this week for the next two week session of classes in baton twirling, swimming and tennis. This two week session begins on Monday, August 10 and concludes on Friday August 21.

Baton Twirling classes are held in the gym of the War Memorial Recreation Center during the morning hours. Registrations are taken on week days at the Center office between the hours of 10 AM and Noon and from 1PM to 5 PM. Fees are $2.50 for ten classes. Tennis classes are conducted on the S.B. Park courts in the mornings and afternoons on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday with registrations being taken during the same Rec Center office hours. Fees for children are $2.00 and for adults are $4.00 for eight lessons.

Swim registrations are taken only between 10 AM and Noon on Friday, August 7 and Saturday, August 8 at the War Memorial Recreation Center. Classes are held throughout the morning, late afternoon and in mid-evening weekdays at San Bruno Park Pool. Recreation Swim is held from 1 PM to 3 PM daily at both S.B. Park and Crestmoor High Pools and from 5:30 to 7:30 PM week nights, and from 3:30 to 5:30 PM on weekends at S.B. Park Pool only.

The War Memorial Rec Center Teen Room and gym are open from 1 PM to 5 PM seven days per week and from 7 PM to 9 PM Monday through Thursday for drop-in activity.

Daly City Rec Meet Changed

The Daly City Recreation Commission meeting will be August 19 instead of August 26, "to accommodate vacation schedules," Charles Vincent, the recreation director, announced today.

Commissioners will meet at 7:30 p.m., in the City Council Chambers at City Hall.

The commission normally meets on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

LOOK FOR THIS GIRL! Children participating in Westlake Shopping Center's Annual Back-To-School Coloring Contest should easily identify pretty Sally Glischinski (right) in The Westlake Mall. Here, Sally instructs little Maryann Grinley, 4th grade student of Our Lady of Mercy School, in the workings of the popular contest. Miss Glischinski is in the shopping center daily between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. to collect Coloring Contest booklets. Her Saturday hours are 10 to 2 p.m. Follow this newspaper for full details.

Two Triumphs For Hotshots In Daly City

The Hot Shots won twice in the Daly City Recreation Division High School Basketball League beating St. Andy's 28-25 and the Sharks 43-32. Mike and Vern Crittendon scoring 16 and 17 points plus Terry Richards 21 points led the way for the OLPH Hot Shots

The Bouncers in overtime beat the Double Joints 55-49. Steve Becker scored 31 points for the victors while Larry Belfrage scored 18 for the losers. The Double Joints, with four men, came back to beat the Hoop Burners putting the league in a three way tie. Lefty Perada and Burrus scored 20 and 19 points in their 58-51 win. Lance Judd and Gavin Long with 14 points each played well for the losers.

Jeff Continues Winning Ways In Soccer Play

Jefferson continued its winning ways by beating the Crusading Cats, 5-1, in the Daly City Recreation Division High School Soccer League. Jose Dubon and Jose Castillero scored 2 goals each while Bill Perla scored 1 for the winner. Mike Gillighan played outstanding for the losers and scored their only goal.

In a hard fought game, Westmoor United and Westmoor Garters tied 1 to 1. Steve Peters, the Garters' star halfback, scored in the third period. On a brilliant pass from Mario Rosalas to Al Silva in the last minute, Westmoor United tied the game.

Ineligible Player On All-Star Unit

The High School Softball League, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division went through an unfortunate week. The All-Stars were unaware they had an ineligible player on their roster, and consequently they will have to replay all of their games.

The Local Yokels lead the league with a 3 and 1 record; they were tied with the All-Stars before this unfortunate incident.

The Local Yokels powered their way to a 9 to 3 win over the Grabbers. Rick Whitmore's three runs, Gary Troxler's home run, and Mike Galli's three hits paced the Local Yokels. Jerry Parris hit a homer for the Grabbers, but unfortunately it was not enough for victory.

The All-Stars edged the Rejects 11-8 behind the bats of Simi Maldonado and Armando Sandino. Maldonado scored four runs and Sandino homered for the All-Stars. Jose Maldonado spearheaded the All-Stars defense. Bruce Costello homered and George Parry scored two runs for the losing Rejects.

The Flavor Grabbers picked up an easy win as the Do-Bees forfeited to them. The win raised the Flavor Grabbers record to 2 and 2.

North Team Wins Summer Cage Crown

Shakey's Pizza basketball team won the summer college basketball championship at San Mateo College, defeating Canada, 52-49.

The team is made up of North Peninsula high school basketball stars now enrolled at Skyline or other colleges.

Members of the team include Tom Orlich, Skyline College, out of Westmoor; Pinky Smith, Jefferson; Steve Kirby, Skyline, out of Jefferson; Dick Youung, Skyline, out of South San Francisco; Brad Quanstrom, Westmoor; Mike Brown, Notre Dame and Westmoor; Jeff Orlick, Westmoor, and Brad Unsin, El Camino.

Three Teams In Daly City Voll'Ball Play

The Summer Adult Co-Rec Volleyball League sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division got underway last week with three teams; the Mafia, Insects, and Rejects all expolding for big first round wins.

The Rejects crunched the Oryall's 15-1, 15-1, and 15-0, the Insects smothered the Odd Squad 15-7, 15-6, and 15-3, and in final action, the Mafia easily handled the Hands 15-6, 15-4, and 15-5.

League play resumes next Tuesday night with all games being played at the War Memorial Community Center Gymnasium.

Golfing Classes At Sharp Park

The Pacific Recreation Department sponsors a golf class at Sharp Park School Field Tuesday and Friday mornings at 10 a.m.

A variety of shots are taught and the class ends with instruction in chipping and putting at the course.

Extra sessions on the short game are scheduled at the El Camino course in South San Francisco, and occasionally plaayers go to a nine-hole course for guided play.

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

If any of you have been up Russian River way recently you know that the orchards are a sight to see. The trees are loaded with apples, the branches weighted down to the ground with the abundance. And our markets are reflecting this bounty. So now is the time to cook and bake with apples.

This apple recipe is an all-time favorite of mine. It comes from Mrs. Louise Ledwick who lives in Palo Alto. Louise is an excellent cook and when she bakes these apple dumplings they look like a photograph in a cookbook and taste heavenly.

APPLE DUMPLINGS

6 Apples
BAKING POWDER BISCUIT RECIPE
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
7 Tablespoons shortening
½ cup milk

(Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees, lower heat to 350 degrees, bake 40 minutes.)

Sift the two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder and one teaspoon salt together and cut in the seven tablespoons shortening. Add the half cup milk and mix quickly. Knead for a few seconds on a lightly floured board. Roll dough into a rectangle one-eighth inch thick. Cut into six squares.

Wash and core the six apples and place one in center of each pastry square. Fill the center with the following mixture.

FILLING

2 Tablespoons margarine, melted
½ cup sugar
2 Tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Melt the two tablespoons margarine in a small saucepan. Add the half cup sugar, two tablespoons lemon juice, fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon and fourth teaspoon nutmeg. Mix well. Spoon into the centers of the apples.

Bring the corners of the dough together at the top of the apples. Moisten edges and pinch together to hold the apple in place. Grease a 9x13x2-inch baking dish and place the dumpling therein.

Bake in 450-degree oven for 10 minutes. Lower oven heat to 350-degrees and bake 40 minutes longer.

During baking time baste the apples with the following syrup three or four times. This gives the dumplings a beautiful glaze.

SYRUP

½ cup white syrup
¼ cup water
3 Tablespoons margarine, melted

Melt the three tablespoons margarine in a small pan. Add the half cup white syrup and fourth cup water. Mix well.

These dumplings are delicious served warm or cold. Plain or with a lemon or vanilla sauce (I prefer vanilla and will include the recipe) or with ice cream.

An added thought about these dumplings. I realize that the length of the recipe and the different mixtures make it sound rather difficult. It really isn't that hard and the results will win you such praise that it's well worth some added effort.

Don't use extra large apples, this way you will be sure to have enough pastry to cover them fully. After you've made the dumplings a few times you'll become more expert and you can use larger apples and know how to "stretch the material" to fit the apples.

A mistake in last week's Spanish Beef recipe necessitates a reprint.

SPANISH BEEF

1 pound ground beef
1 green pepper, chopped
1 medium onion, chopped
2 Tablespoons olive oil
2 cups cooked broad noodles
1 can tomato soup
1 cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
4 ounce can sliced mushrooms
⅛ cup grated Parmesan cheese
(Bake in 350-degree oven about 45 minutes)

Saute the pound ground beef, chopped green pepper and onion in the two tablespoons oil. Cooking and stirring until beef is brown.

In a mixing bowl combine the can tomato soup, one cup water, fourth teaspoon each salt and pepper, half teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, four ounces sliced mushrooms and half cup Parmesan cheese.

Place one cup cooked noodles in a greased two-quart casserole. Top with half the meat mixture and then half the sauce. Repeat. Bake in 350-degree oven about 45 minutes.

Serves four to six.

VANILLA SAUCE

1 cup sugar
2 Tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups boiling water
4 Tablespoons butter
Few grains salt
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix the cup sugar with the two tablespoons cornstarch and salt. Add the two cups boiling water gradually, stirring constantly. Boil five minutes. Remove from heat and add the four tablespoons butter and two teaspoons vanilla. Makes two cups. Serve hot.

Mother-Daughter Deaths Seen As A Suicide Pact

Coroner Paul B. Jensen said Thursday he believes that the deaths of a Daly City woman and her 15-year-old daughter July 26 were the result of a suicide pact rather than a case of the mother killing the daughter and than taking her own life.

Toxicological tests of the remains of the girl, Susan Monica Schacher, Jensen said, revealed that she had taken approximately 26 capsules of pentobarbital, a sleep drug. The average fatal dose for a person her size, the coroner said, would be seven to nine capsules.

Jensen noted that some of the capsules were found undissolved in the girl's stomach, establishing that the drug was swallowed in capsule form.

"It just doesn't seem possible," the coroner said, "that the mother could have forced the girl to swallow that many capsules against her will."

The mother, Mrs. Harriet Shirley Schacher, 45, had taken two kinds of drugs, secobarbital and pentobarbital, Jensen said. He estimated she took 43 capsules, enough to kill four people her size. Undissolved portions of capsules were also found in her remains, according to the coroner.

Despite the indications of double suicide, Jensen said, an investigation will continue to exhaust all possibilities of a murder-suicide. Jensen has assigned Investigator Robert Cawley to interview friends and acquaintances of the mother and daughter in the search for clues to the mystery.

Mrs. Schacher reportedly had been despondent since the death of her husband two years ago. She left a suicide note stating, "You know I had to take Monica with me, don't you?"

Guest Speaker

At Sunday's 10:55 a.m. morning worship hour at Westside Baptist Church, guest speaker will be the Rev. A. R. Rutledge, of San José.

The Rev. Rutledge has pastored several Baptist churches in California, and now for the past several years has been engaged in church construction and architecture. He is also adept in chalk illustrated messages.

He is well known to Westsiders, since he is the builder of their present church buildings, drew the plans for the buildings, and assisted them in promoting the sale of church bonds.

The Rev. Rutledge also will speak at the 7 p.m. Family Fellowship Gospel Hour. In the absence of Pastor A. David Donnelly, Per Hillerstom will be in charge of the services.

Sunday School is at 9:45 a.m. at Westside Baptist Church. There are classes age-graded from nursery through college, and then two fine adult classes.

The emphasis at Westside Baptist is to include the entire family in this hour of inspiration and instruction.

Resort Chef Provies Recipes For Refreshing Hot-Weather Soups

When the weather is hot, cold soups add a refreshing touch to any lunch or dinner.

That's the voice of experience, coming from chef R. A. Dietrich at Caneel Bay Plantation sresort on St. John in the U.S. Virgin Islands where summer is a year-round season and the menu must be tailored to it.

According to Chef Dietrich, about half of the guests at the resort developed by Laurance S. Rockefeller order cold soups daily, a much greater demand than for hot soups.

"Even guests who are familiar with cold soups, such as the popular Gazpacho, enjoy an exciting change by trying something disferent such as our Avocado Frappe or Barbados Rum and Plum Pot," Dietrich said.

"And these are generally soups that our guests find they can make and serve back home from common ingredianets."

He offered some advice to hostesses at home planning to feature a cold soup:

Be sure that the soup is well chilled; pre-chill the serving bowls or cups if you wish.

Please the eye as well as the palate If the soup is to be ladeled at the table, surround the tureen with leaves or greenery to add an air of crisp coolness. Be aware of color contrasts. Sprinkle soups with minced parsley or paprika or minced fresh herbs. Be imaginative.

Have condiments available with the cold soup as you would for serving a curry. Your guests can create their own taste adventure with chopped egg yolk, crushed nuts, crisp bacon bits, or shredded coconut.

Apple juice makes an excellent base for many cold soups, because it is neutral enough to blend with any fruit combination.

Except for bananas, papayas, pineapple and melons, your fruits — canned or frozen — should first be cooked. Then they cas be minced or pureed in a blender, mixed with the fruit juice, and chilled. A good proportion is one part fruit to two parts fruit juice.

A bit of minute tapioca, cooked according to package directions and allowed to cool, can be added to cold soup for more body.

Experiment with flavors. Lime juice or dry white wine or rum can become nice additions.

Following are some of the recipes offered by the Caneel Bay chef.

GAZPACHO ANDALOUSE

4 large, ripe tomatoes, peeled and seeded (or use canned tomatoes)
1 cucumber, medium size, peeled and seeded
1 green pepper, large, seeded
2 stalks celery, pared to remove stringy outside
1 onion, medium
1 garlic clove
2 cups tomato juice
4 tablespoons olive oil
3 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon monosodium gultamate
Tabasco Sauce (optional)
Lime juice (optional)

Finely mince the tomatoes, cucmber, green pepper, celery, onion, and garlic. Stir in tomato juice, olive oil, vinegar, monsosodium glutamate, and add salt and pepper to taste Tabasco or lime juice may be added to taste.

BARBADOS PLUM AND RUM POT

Remove pits from canned purple plums, put plums and syrup in a blender, add a pinch of ground clove and ground cinnamon, and blend smooth. To one quart of this, add the juice of one lemon or one lime, and one cup of light rum. Serve well chilled.

AVOCADO FRAPPE

In a blender, blend three ripe avocados with one quart of milk. Season with salt, monosodium glutamate, and a few dashes of Tabasco and Worcestershire Sauce. Chill.

CREAM OF PEANUT SOUP FRAPPLE

1½ cups of creamy peanut butter
1 quart milk
salt and pepper
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate

In a pan over low heat, soften the peanut butter just enough to allow easy mixing with the milk. Add the milk, monosodium glutamate, and salt and pepper to taste. Chill.

COLD BANANA SOUP

1 quart milk
¼ teaspoon bicarbonate of soda
dash of salt
6 bananas
2 pints of vanilla ice cream

In a pan, mix milk, bicarbonate of soda and salt and heat until near the boiling point. Add the bananas whole and cook gently for two or three more minutes. Remove from heat and cool. Add the bananas and milk to the blender container and blend smooth. Refrigerate for five or six hours until well chilled Just prior to serving, mix the banana-milk with sofrned vanilla ice cream. Serve in chilled bowls Serves eight.

Icy, Sweet Confections For Dessert

A delicious way to lower the temperature is a dessert of icy, sweet confections that are easy to make. Delices des Oranges has a French flair and combines some French ingredients. As translated for U.S. homemakers:

Scoop the fruit and jui e out of a large organge and mix it with French grenadine syrup (made from the juice of pomegranates), an egg white, sugar and a splash of French mineral water. Freeze this mixture and place it in the orange shells with a crowning touch of a French crystallized flower on top. The grenadine syrup sweetens and the mineral water adds sparkle to the "frosting."

France's fresh fruit syrups and mineral waters are particularly popular in summer because they combine in all sorts of tall, cool drinks. The syrups are available in lemon, strawberry, raspberry, cassis, mint, orgeat (almond-flavored) as well as grenadine.

As topping for ice cream, sherbet, refrigerator desserts or souffles, they add the right sweet note.

The naturally carbonated mineral waters from France add a proper bubble to all drinks, alcoholic or not.

DELICES DES ORANGES
(Makes about 6 servings)

6 large naval oranges
½ cup French grenadine syrup
1 egg white
½ cup sugar
3 cups Perrier water

Slice off the top third of each orange. With a sharp pointed knife, remove all pulp, reserving juice. Set shells aside. Remove membranes and dice pulp. Pour pulp and orange juice into a bowl. Stir in grenadine, egg white, sugar and prerier water. Stir to blend. Freeze until mushy.

Remove from freezer and beat with an electric mixer until fluffy. Cover closely and freeze until hard. When ready to serve, spoon orange granite (sherbet) into orange shells. Garnish with crystallized violets and mint leaves. Serve at once.

Spices Provide International Flavor To Variety Of Appetizers

When you're entertaining guests at a cookout, part of the fun is a generous platter of nicely seasoned appetizers giving off tempting aromas, arousing taste buds for the food sizzling away on the grill. It also enables the host to give some of his attention to peppering the steak or mopping sauce on the spareribs.

Cooks the world over agree that appetizers should be small in size, but big in flavor and eye appeal. Modern appetizers are descendants of the rich and pickly things served by the Scandinavians, delicacies redolent of white pepper, onion, dill, parsley and allspice.

When the Russians developed an apptite for these savories they called them "zakuski" and used much the same kind of spicing. The French have four or five hundred hors d'oeuvres fragrant with herbs, mustard, garlic and other favorite French spices. Germans are most likely to serve a single flavorful meat, fish or cheese and call it a "vorspeise," a "before food," while the Italians prelede their pasta course with an antipasto, a "before pasta." Basil, sage, rosemary and oregano are herbs which given Italian accent.

Marinated fish, Andalusian style and marinated mixed vegetables are two excellent appetizers when made according to these recipes from the test kitchens of the American Spice Trade association.

PESCADITOS EN ESCABECHE A LA ANDALUZA
(Marinated Fish Andalusian Style)

1½ pounds halibut steak
½ pound peeled and deveined shrimp or scallops
¼ cup flour
¼ cup olive or salad oil
2-3 cup water
1-3 cup white vinegar
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cumin seed
½ teaspoon ground giner
⅛ teaspoon ground red pepper
Pinch of saffron, crumbled 3 bay leaves
½ lemon, thinly sliced

Remove bones and skin from halibut; cut into 1-inch pieces. Dredge halibut and shrimp with flour; shake off excess. In a large skillet heat oil. Add seafood and fry until lightly browned on all sides. Remove to serving dish. In a small bowl combine water, vinegar, garlic powder, salt, cumin seed, ginger, red pepper and saffron; mix well. Pour over fried seafood. Add bay leaves and top with sliced lemon. Cover and refrigerate at least 24 hours. Remove lemon slices. (This will keep several days in the refrigerator).

Yield: 12 portions.

(ITALY)
PIATTO FREDDO DIORTAGGI'
(Chilled Marinated Mixed Vegetables)

3 small eggplants, unpeeled
1 tablespoon salt
1 small cauliflower
½ pound green beans
1 cup olive or salad oil
1 cup water
½ cup onion flakes
2 small bay leaves
½ teaspoon instant minced garlic
⅛ teaspoon thyme leaves
3 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon coarse ground black pepper
Salt to taste

Cut eggplants into ½-inch cubes. Place in a colander and sprinkle with salt. Let stand one hour to drain off juices. Meanwhile, cut cauliflower into flowerettes; set aside. Trim stem ends of beans, cut into 1-inch pieces; set aside.

In a large saucepot combine oil, water, onin flakes, bay leaves, minced garlic and thyme leaves. Bring to boiling point. Add prepared cauliflower and beans. Cook, covered, 7 minutes or until crisp tender. Remove to large bowl. Rinse eggplant under cold water; drain. Add to sauiepot and cook covered, 15 minutes or until tender. Remove to bowl with vegetables.

To liquid in saucepot add remaining ingredients. Return to boiling point. Pour over vegetables in bowl. Cover and refrigerate. Serve chilled as an appetizer.

Yield: 2 quarts.

Roast Beef Effective Economizer

Planning to use a single cut of meat for more than one meal is the sign of an efficient homemaker. She economizes on both preparation and cooking time.

Roast beef, one suitable choice for several menus, can achieve gourmet status for a follow-up meal, says meat expert, Reba Staggs, associated with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Gourmet Beef Sandwich

1 pound cooked roast beef, sliced ⅛ inch thick
½ cup mayonnaise
2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
3 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese
3 tablespoons thinly sliced green onions
6 slices caraway rye bread
Butter or margarine
Lettuce leaves
2 dill pickles, 3 to 4 inches long

Combine mayonnaise, horseradish, mustard, bule cheese and onion. Spread bread with butter or margarine. Place a lettuce leaf on each slice of bread and top with slices of meat. Spoon 2 tablespoons mayonnaise-cheese mixture on meat. Garnish each sandwich with 2 dill pickle"rolls" made by cutting each pickle, lengthwise, into 6 thin slices, rolling and securing with small picks. Six servings.

Boneless and compact, a beef sirloin tip roast is an ideal choice for the oudtoor rotisserie. When the heat from the coals is low to moderate, it will be as tender and juicy as when roasted in the oven, explains meat expert Reba Staggs of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. For optimum tenderness, roast only to rare or medium and carve in thin slices.

Beef Sirloin Tip Roast Rotisserie-Style

4 to 6-pound boned and tied beef sirloin tip roast
Barbecue sauce, if desired

Insert the rotisserie rod lengthwise through the center of the roast. Balance roast and tighten spit forks. Roast must turn with the rod. To determine doneness, insert a roast meat thermometer into center of roast but not touching rotisserie rod. Cook at low to moderate temperature to desired doness (140 degree F. for rare; 160 degree F. for medium). Brush with barbecue sauce during roasting if desired. Allow 1¾ to 2¾ hours for rare and 2½ to 3 hours for medium. When the thermometer registers about 5 degree F. below desired degree of doneness, remove the roast and allow to "set" for 20 minutes before carving.

NIACIN SOURCES

Niacin is needed for healthy skin and the digestive system. Meats are an important source of niacin. Foods that have been "enriched," like rice and breakfast cereals, are also excellent sources of niacin.

Big Headaches From Tiny Mateo Street Job

One of San Mateo's smallest public street improvements, involving only three blocks, is causing some of the city's biggest headaches, today conceded City Engineer Robert Bezzant.

The area involves Delaware Street from Second to Fifth Avenue.

Within that stretch, he city is spending some $200,000 to put in larger new storm drains, light standards, traffic signals. It is also widening the street by two lanes.

At the same time seven contractors t,hree utility firms, and 18 individual property owners have been undergrounding and improving their lines.
is maintained by the California

When the job is completed (hopefully) this October, it will have taken a whole year, reports Bezzant.

But when it's all done this is what the results will be: the periodic winter-time flooding of San Mateo Creek extending to Third, Fourth, Fifth Avenue intersections with Delaware Street will be ended. Traffic will flow more freely with two added lines of travel. Traffic hazards will be eliminated with the left-hand lane channelization. Streets will be better lighted. Signals will be modernized. And from the standpoint of esthetics, gone will be the unsightly tangle of overhead lines. Property values can't help but appreciate, says Bezzant.

Meanwhile four major trenches have been dug, re-dug, and new ones dug. While the P.G. & E. and the Pacific Telephone Company share a common trench, a separate trench is maintained by the Califorhia water service company, and the city has had to dig its own trench to place new storm drains, report Bezzant and his Assistant City Engineer Lyle Johnson.

Added to this have been delays posed by the necessity of the individual property owners paying up to $600 to reconnect their utility lines from the old overhead sources to new underground connections.

In the process some have balked, causing added delays. One incident involved a man who decided he wanted to do it himself, and dug a line for a conduit, only to discover it was too shallow. The P. G. & E. wouldn't connect power and the job has to be done all over.

It usually takes utility firms three months to prepare and draft plans for such jobs. "Once we got into it, it was a can of worms," commented Johnson. He said some trenches are only two or three feet apart, but must be kept separate. Telephone poles which were in the way of the storm drain trench delayed that portion of the job. They couldn't be moved until lines were undergrounded, and the drainage trench couldn't be dug until the poles were moved.

One of the long-suffering property owners in the area vividly described his plight and problems in a recent letter to Mayor Hugh A. Wayne. Ettore E. Piccone who owns Hector's Richfield Service station at 300 South Delaware Street wrote: "I believe I have had enough. The helter-skelter destruction underway on both corners of my service station is costing me much business aggravation.

"Trenches and holes have been dug and redug several times over. Each time a new destruction company enters the scene it digs up the same trench previously backfilled by another company.

"When they get tired of playing in the sand, someone produces a large hose, attaches it to the hydrant and makes mud, and a pond big enough to build a duck blind in. The mud is in turn tracked onto my driveway.

"I am tired of washing this place down. I have enough dirt tracked into my building to qualify for the Federal Soil Bank program.

"For several months I have been blockaded, barricaded, barriered, cutoff and detoured to a point where I feel a personal persecution.

"My business has fallen off drastically due to the City of San Mateo. I have complained by phone. I have visited the office of the engineers and inspectors. These good people were sympathetic but the problem still exists and will for many more months to come.

"My business license fee is due now, but I am not going to pay it until I get some satisfaction, even if it means your closing me up. Right now I am in the mood to sue.

"I will be conferring with other service station operators suffering the same penalties about the possibility of legal action for the loss of business, inconvenience and continuous contamination.

"I believe my business license entitles me to some degree of business protection.

"A visit (inspection) by city officials would be most welcome (with mop and brooms)."

City Engineer Bezzant comments. "Mr. Piccone has had ample reason to complain. We have explained the many problems involved in the job, and he's most understanding. . . ."

CURSE YOU RED BARON — Charlie Brown's "Snoopy" never had it so good, but this Snoopy, belonging to 11-year-old Cathy Zugar of Belmont spent part of Saturday afternoon with Susan Damante, Miss San Mateo County. Snoopy was at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta to compete in the Optimist Club of Hillsdale's annual Mutt Contest.

$58,231 For Campaign

It cost $58,231.69 for Forden (Skip) Athearn to wage his unsuccessful campaign to unseat incumbent Paul N. McCloskey for the Republican Congressional nomination in the June 2 primary election.

In a campaign statement filed with County Clerk-Assessor Marvin Church, Athearn claims expenditures which are some $34,000 below what McCloskey spent. Athearn, a San Mateo attorney, received Superior Court permission to file his expense statement late.

He reports he received $49,989.95 in contributions, listing 16 pages of contributors, including $5,000 from Henry Salvatori, a Southern California oil man and supporter of conservative causes.

Other major contributions include $2000 from the "Conservative Victory Fund," an H. T. Cook, Industry, Calif., and from Caroline and Jaquelin Hume, San Francisco; $1000 each from Leland Kaiser, A. L. Chickering, Jay Holmes and Ernest Gallo, as well as two anonymous contributions of $1000 each and a $1,000 loan from his wife, Louise.

THE SECOND TIME AROUND

Opportunity DOES knock a second time! If you missed this sparkling brick-trimmed rancher two years ago when it was sold by its original owners see it NOW. It is still one of the prettiest and neatest of homes, located in one of Belmont's choicest residential areas, walking distance to El Camino with bus service for school children of all ages.

Many, many features, but our favorites are the 20x20 panelled family room with its own fireplace, bath and outdoor entrance, the large family size kitchen which exits to the patio and secluded yard, and attractive ranchy exterior.

PLUS features include 3 bedrooms, 2 more baths, a second fireplace in the living room, marble tiled entry, carpets and drapes. A lovely home beautifully decorated and maintained being reluctantly relinquished by its second owners. A MUST SEE! $48,500.

County's Private Defender Program Award Winner

As a result of the successful establishment and operation of its unique Private Defender Program, the San Mateo County Bar Association has been named as one of the winners of the 1970 Award of Merit for Excellence competition of the American Bar Association.

The Award was formally presented to Association President Lois Scampini and Executive Director William F. Lanam at the annual American Bar Association Award of Merit Luncheon August 9, in St. Louis.

In addition to the Private Defender program, the Award is also based upon numerous other activities of the San Mateo County Bar Association, including the publication of its high-quality quarterly membership magazine; the continuing growth in the Lawyer Reference Service program; the Bar Association operation of an O.R. (release on own recognizance) program; participation by Bar Association members in community groups such as Task Force, PROBE, Damien House, and a newly developed educational program to be worked in conjunction with the College of San Mateo commencing this fall; and the continued efforts of Bar members to maintain communication with the public through the operation of a Speakers' Bureau and Law Day activities.

Established just 18 months ago by the San Mateo County Bar Association, the Private Defender program is cited in the award from the American Bar Association for its unique approach to "private" rather than "public" defense of criminal indigents.

The program, established in early 1969, is the first in which a local Bar Association has contracted with a county to develop and administer a system for court appointment of counsel to criminal indigents.

At present, some 140 member attorneys have been qualified by the Bar Association for participation in the program, which has recently been renewed for the fiscal year 1970-71 by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

Each municipal and superior court department determines whether there will be a court-appointed attorney for a defendant charged with a criminal offense. This decision is based on the defendant's inability to pay for the lawyer himself.

Where the court decides to appoint an attorney, the Private Defender office itself is named as council. Attorneys participating in the program are then calendared by the Private Defender office to be at arraignments on a given date. The attorney then handles these assigned cases like any other private cases — but on the basis of a standard fee schedule maintained by the Private Defender office.

In spite of the lower-than-private fee received through the Private Defender office, local attorneys have responded enthusiastically to the program.

Purchase Of Hydrant OK'd

At the recommendation of Fire Chief John Marchi, South San Francisco councilmen okayed expenditure of $500 for purchase and installation of a fire hydrant at the southeast corner of West Orange Avenue and the new Westborough Boulevard extension. Payment for the hydrant doesn't qualify under gas tax funds procedure.

General Aid Recipients

Welfare Payments In County Boosted

Monthy allowances for general assistance welfare recipients in San Mateo County were increased last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

The grant for single persons was increased from $90 to $130 and for couples from $145 to $220.

General assistance, which is supported wholly with county tax funds, is extended to needy persons who cannot qualify under other welfare aid programs, the major cost of which is borne by the state and federal governments.

County Manager M. D. Tarshes, who recommended the allowance increases "in recognition of the fact that existing allowances do not cover basic living needs," told the board that some 500 single persons and 35 couples are receiving general assistance.

Chairman Jean Fassler, an advocate of putting as many welfare recipients to work as possible, raised the point again yesterday.

"Concern has been expressed from time to time," she said, "that a number of these people are employable and could be supporting themselves if they were inclined to do so."

Tarshes told her, however, that persons receiving aid under the general assistance program are, by definition, not employable.

The 1970-71 apropriation for general assistance was increased by the board this year by $180,000, to a total of $900,000, to meet the allowance boosts.

Tarshes said the new allowance schedules increase rental aid by 45 per cent or more to match rental grants under the various state categorical aid programs. Allowances for other basic needs, such as food, clothing, household and personal expenses are boosted by 25 per cent or more, Tarshes said, to compensate for increases in the cost of living.

For single persons, the allowance for rent will go up from $43 to $63; food, $28.60 to $37; clothing, $8.80 to $11.50; personal and incidental, $3.60 to $5; household and transportation, $6 to $13.60.

For couples: rent, $50 to $90; food, $52 to $73; clothing, $17.60 to $23; personal and incidental, $7.20 to $10; household and transportation, $18.20 to $24.

Special needs such as medical care or special diets will continue to be furnished.

Applicant Appeals Billboard Denial

Denial of three more billboards by the South San Francisco planning commissioners have been appealed by the applicant.

Meanwhile Councilman Frank Bertucelli questioned a conditionally approved use permit request to construct a 36-unit apartment dwelling. Hearings on both matters is set for September 7.

The billboard appeals were entered by Foster and Kleiser. One request was for a billboard on the southeast side of the Bayshore Freeway about 1400 feet northeast of Oyster Point Boulevard.

The second request was for construction of two billboards on the east side of the Bayshore Freeway about 950 feet south of East Grand Avenue.

Councilman Bertucelli said the reason he was appealing the conditionally approved request of Menn Investment to build a complex on the east side of Alida Street, between Alta Vista and Country Club Drives, was because of apparent lack of off-street parking.

Planning Director Dan Paso assured Bertucelli the applicant met the requirement of one parking space per unit. He said the road had a 60-foot right-of-way and the permit was approved "because it had more merits for approval than denial. Not because of textbook planning."

Bertucelli none-the-less, wanted to hold the project up so he could "study it."

SUMMER CAMP

FT. LEWIS, Wash. — Cadet Roland R. Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Alexander, 51 Eastridge Circle, Pacifica, is attending the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps' advanced summer camp at Ft. Lewis, Wash., from June 12 to July 23.

Cadet Alexander is one of approximately 17,000 young men expected to attend ROTC camps at various military installations throughout the nation.

At summer camp he will be a small unit leader and instructor in realistic exercises, and will receive command experience and the opportunity to use classroom knowledge in the field.

Alexander is a student at the University of Arizona, Tucson, Ariz.

Easement Is Granted In South S.F.

South San Francisco councilmen have authorized payment of $1,000 for the granting of a temporary construction easement for the South Maple Avenue-South Canal Street relief pump and storm drainage assessment district.

The city originally had offered $500. However, one property owner, Walter I. Amos, who led the recent unsuccessful opposition against the assessment district, held out for $1,000. He had told councilmen that "unless you have a satisfactory easement, there will be friction. This is just a fact."

Part of the agreement was that the property owners releasing the easement not bring, or join in, any action challenging the legality of the special assessment proceedings.

Legal proceedings already are pending, and the assessment district is being challenged by four property owners Anthony Sorich, Jay Quetrisk, Arthur (Buzz) Haskins and Olympian Oil Company.

The suit contends the city "acted unreasonably and beyond its authorization" when it overuled a 70 per cent protest against the district.

SSF Mayor Raps City Study Of Bonding

Even though he was told it could be done for free, South San Francisco Mayor Patrick Ahern is still holding out against a study of the city's bonding capabilities on $20 million in capital improvements.

His position of studying bonding capabilities of a new police facility, only, led to a heated verbal exchange with Councilman Frank Mammini last week.

The words were exchanged at the midweek study session when two of three requested financial experts appeared before the councilmen. The third was scheduled to be at today's 4:30 p.m. pre-council session.

Problems started when representatives of a Citizens Committee on Capital Improvements proposed several capital improvements and asked the councilmen to simply seek a study of the city's capability of bonding all these projects.

Mayor Ahern ignored their request and instead ordered City Mgr. Tom McKenzie to contact three specialists in the financing of police stations.

The mayor said he felt the police station was of top priority and feared the city would get bogged down in bonded indebtedness if all projects were undertaken at once.

Committee representatives, and Councilman Mammini, failed to impress upon the mayor it was not necessarily the intention to build all projects at once, merely to determine the city's bonding capabilities.

At the study session last week, one of the bonding experts was Ken Jones, of Wilson, Jones, Morton and Lynch, bond experts retained by the city.

An attempt by Mammini to question Jones on the total bonding capabilities prompted the mayor to try and keep the questioning related to the bonding of a police facility.

"You are straying from the subject," said Ahern. "I think this man came in to tell us strictly about police financing."

"That wasn't my impression," said Mammini.

"I explained to Mr. Jones the primary interest to council at this time appeared to be financing a police building," said McKenzie.

Ahern said, "If we get involved with the whole picture we are going to lose everything. The people could say 'now we are going overboard.' The reason the meeting was called. . ."

"That was your reason," interjected Mammini.

"It was the council's reason," said Ahern. "I'm part of the council, also," continued Mammini, "and I'd like to know more about bonding. Mr. Jones is here and as a councilman, I'm entitled to know."

Ahern said, "If he wants to give that information. . ."

"I'm willing to respond to any question I have to answer to," said Jones.

He went on to explain that the gram is to amortize the cost of function of a public bonding pro- a worthwhile public improvement over a reasonable period of years, the impact of the cost does not hit one set of taxpayers.
